200 Red Planes Attack Tachen Island Defenses

Raids Reported
Prelude to Main Invasion

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — More than 200 Communist warplanes unleashed the heaviest air attack of the Chinese Civil War against the Nationalists' Tachen Islands today in a likely prelude to invasion.

Eight miles to the north, said the Nationalist Defense Ministry, guerrillas "fighting in pools of blood" were still resisting on battered Yikiangshan, invaded by the Reds yesterday. It was believed here, however, that only isolated groups were still fighting and that Red conquest of the 3 1/2-square-mile island was nearly complete. The Reds claimed they had already captured it.

Peiping radio said the conquest was made in two hours. Quoting the official newspaper People's Daily, it called the invasion "a victory of modern military technique." It said, "The victory shows that the Chinese people are unshakable in their determined will to fight for the liberation of Taiwan (Formosa). The ocean is no barrier to the heroic Chinese people's liberation army."

Well Fortified

Actual invasion of the Tachens may not come until they have been softened up from the air. The islands are reported to be well fortified and strongly manned, and having terrain that makes them almost ideal for defensive warfare.

The statement by U.S. Secretary of State Dulles that the United States would offer no objection to the United Nations seeking a cease-fire in the civil war caused a real sensation here.

Qualified sources indicated the Nationalists would flatly reject such a demand. Official quarters refused to talk for publication, but there was no mistaking their unfavorable reaction.

The China News, an independent newspaper with close contacts in high places, declared, "Free China will fight to the very end against such a presumptuous idea as a cease-fire in any form or under any circumstances."

Assurance to Reds

There is a general impression here too that Dulles in effect was telling the Communists they needn't worry about the U.S. 7th Fleet intervening if Chiang Kai-shek's island outposts are attacked.

Dulles told a Washington press conference the Tachens were of marginal importance, at best, in the defense of Formosa. The United States is committed to the defense of Formosa and of the Pescadores.

A threat to Pishan, a Nationalist island 32 miles southwest of the Tachens, also appeared to be developing. The Nationalists reported the Communists fired 132 shells at Pishan and said Red warships were in the vicinity.

Air Force headquarters reported Nationalist planes carried out night-long attacks against Communist ships in the Tachens and many Communist craft were destroyed or damaged.

The Nationalists also said anti-aircraft guns shot down a Soviet-built TU2 twin-engine light bomber in the attack on the Tachens.

Ike Urges U.N. to Arrange Cease-Fire in Chinese War

President Eisenhower is shown as he told his news conference, where photographers were permitted for the first time, that the U.S. does not regard the Tachen Islands where fighting is under way between Communist and Nationalist China, as vital to the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores Islands. Nationalists Reported Against Proposal

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he would like to see the United Nations try to arrange a cease-fire between the Chinese Nationalists and Red China's attacking forces.

The President told a news conference that he does not know whether the U. N. would be able to do anything about halting the shooting, but he said he would like to see it use its good offices to seek a cease-fire.

The President's remarks came atop a statement Tuesday by Secretary of State Dulles that the United States would offer no objections to the United Nations' seeking a cease-fire. Dulles' statement created a sensation in Formosa, stronghold of the Chinese Nationalists.

AP Correspondent Spencer Moosa at Taipei reported that qualified sources indicated the Chinese Nationalists would reject such an idea.

A cease-fire in effect would end Chinese Nationalist hopes of ever returning to the mainland.

Not Yet Failed
Eisenhower also told his news conference that Dag Hammarskjold's mission to Peiping in an effort to win release of 11 imprisoned American airmen cannot be regarded as a failure so long as negotiations are continuing.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif) has termed the Hammarskjold mission a failure.

While Eisenhower did not go along with Knowland on that, he said emphatically that efforts seeking the release of the airmen imprisoned as "spies" never can be termed a success until the fliers have been returned to their homeland.

For the first time in history, television and newsreel sound cameras were permitted to record the news conference for possible later public showing. White House aides will check first, however, to determine what is to be released.

Withholding Plan Urged on Legislature

Some Relief for Small Income
Taxpayers Urged

By ADOLPH JOHNSON

ST. PAUL (AP) — Gov. Freeman today proposed higher taxes on iron ore, beer, telephone company earnings, gift and inheritance taxes, a tax on insurance annuities and a new tax on tobacco, other than cigarettes.

In his budget message to the Legislature, he also asked approval for a withholding system for the collection of individual state income taxes and a system of new and higher fees for services performed and businesses licensed by the state.

On the other side of the picture, he suggested relief for small income taxpayers in the form of an increased dependent credit allowance, from $10 to $15.

He asked the Legislature to submit a constitutional amendment to make it possible for the Legislature to set the tax rate on railroads, but made it clear he was not proposing an increase. The present rate is five per cent on the gross earnings of railroads.

Budget Problems

His message also contained recommendations intended to improve the business climate of the state and to help cities solve their financial problems.

Describing this year's budgetary problems as "unusually acute," Freeman said the tax increase he proposed are needed to balance a general revenue budget calling for expenditure of $167,466,000 for the next two years.

This compares with department requests totaling $176,088,000 and appropriations amounting to $155,169,000 for the current two years. The governor estimated that present taxes will bring in $144,150,000 during the next two years. Allowing for money that will be appropriated but not spent, he set the amount of new money needed at $19,993,000.

He said $5,130,000 could be picked up from increased fees and licenses, by shifting certain administrative charges from the general revenue to other funds, by transferring army rentals to the building fund, and through a "more alert investment policy."

This would leave $14,863,000 to be raised by new or increased taxes.

How to Raise Funds

Here is how Freeman proposed to raise it: Increase iron ore occupational and royalty tax rate from 12 per cent to 15 per cent.

Benson Expects Farm Prices to Stabilize in '55

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson told Congress today the postwar decline in farm income has just about stopped and farmers may look forward to "economic stability and continued growth."

"The small changes in farm income and farm prices between 1953 and 1954 suggest," he said, "that most of the postwar adjustment has been completed, and that we are in a period of comparative stability."

Benson made his forecast in testimony before the Senate Agriculture Committee.

He said the general economic situation is good and agriculture will share in the "growth and prosperity ahead of us, to the extent it continues to apply science and technology to its production and merchandising."

Benson told the committee that the administration's farm programs—embracing flexible price supports, crop control measures and programs for disposal of surpluses—is operating satisfactorily.

Some Democratic farm leaders in Congress have indicated that they will seek this year to repeal portions of the administration's program, particularly flexible price supports, and restore the war-born high rigid floors which were dropped last year.

The GOP farm chief went into the farm situation by major commodities and products. He said, for example, that the cattle industry—which was greatly depressed in 1953—saw some price recovery and restoration of stability last year.

Boston Prisoners Threaten Guards

BOSTON (AP) — State police reported today an Army tank is en route from Fort Devens to Charles-town State Prison where four rebellious convicts hold five guards hostage in the second day of a desperate bid for release.

In addition to the five guards, six other convicts, apparently held against their will by the desperados, are in an isolated solitary confinement cellblock.

Otis M. Whitney, state public safety commissioner and head of the state police, said he ordered the tank sent here.

The tank, an M41 "Walker bulldog," is equipped with a 76 mm rifle and two machine guns.

The 34-ton vehicle has the fire power to blast any steel door at the prison, Army officers said.

Prison officials reported no change in the tense situation this morning.

Tuesday night the four convicts warned officials contemplating means of safely breaking the impasse that "for every shot fired at us, a guard dies."

The message was issued from the solitary confinement cellblock of the Massachusetts State Prison, where the quartet of desperados has been holding the guards captive since 5 a.m. yesterday.

Shortly after receipt of the message by Warden John J. O'Brien, State Atty. Gen. George Fingold announced over the prison's public address system:

"If one of you kills, all of you will die in the electric chair."

Both O'Brien and Fingold said there would be no compromise. They demanded that the guards be released unharmed.

On the other hand, the hardened convicts—all serving virtual life sentences—repeated their earlier conditions: "This is a battle to the end; we have only one demand—out."

Scores of state police and local law enforcers stood by with machine guns, bazookas, shot guns, submachineguns, rifles and small arms.

Spokesman and ringleader of the armed convicts is Theodore (Teddy) Green, 39, a notorious bank robber and experienced prison escaper, who notified Warden O'Brien last night: "One shot, one gas bomb and one of your screws (guards) dies. If shots are fired at us, then to hell with what happens from then on."

Even a touching telephone conversation with his 16-year-old daughter—arranged by the Boston Post—failed to bring Green to his senses.

The Post reported that Green told his daughter: "I got to have my freedom and get all that money that is put away. I have to get it for you and Ma and the kids."

He also was quoted as saying: "I'm sorry, Toby, but if that warden don't let me out in the car, I positively will. That is the way I feel about it and that is that."

The three prisoners with Green are Walter H. Balbin, 38, of Hudson, Mass., who has so many sentences against him for gunplay and robbery that it would take until 1998 to complete them; Fritz O. Swenson, 31, of Boston, serving life for killing a policeman; and Joseph Flaherty, 32, also of Boston, a burglar and rapist with 47 years to serve.

Winter's Top Storm Lashes Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The winter's worst storm, which drenched southern California with rain, chilled it with snow and whipped it with gusty winds, was petering out today.

The Weather Bureau said more showers are due and more snow, in the mountains, but clearing weather is expected by tonight.

Yesterday's onslaught had everything: Rain, snow, hail, lightning and a couple of junior tornadoes in Los Angeles. Up to 35 inches fell in the mountains.

One man died of a heart attack while shoveling snow.

Rain totaled 1.10 inches in Los Angeles, making 6.59 for the season, compared with the norm of 6.35 for this time of year. The corresponding figure last year was only 2.34 inches.

Dozens of intersections and streets were flooded. Two industrial plants were damaged by lightning. The wind smashed many plate glass windows and toppled trees.

Atlantic States Get Rain, Snow

The storm that dumped snow over Midwest areas moved into the southeast Atlantic states during the night bringing rain, snow and cold weather.

The worst storm of the winter season swept southern California with rain, snow and strong winds yesterday, but it seemed to be dying out today.

Four inches of snow fell in Croyleville, Tenn., while snow also was reported in Raleigh, N.C. Rainfall was moderate to heavy along the Atlantic Seaboard.

Winona County Bond Sales Up To $1,201,414

Wabasha Co. Tops Area for Exceeding '54 Purchase Quota

Sales of series E and H savings bonds in Winona County during December amounted to $145,400, bringing the total for the year up to $1,201,414 or 101.6 per cent of quota. Donald T. Winder is county committee chairman.

Included in the county total is a $43,885 share in unallocated sales made to citizens of Minnesota who are civilian federal employees and military personnel.

Highest over the 100 per cent mark in this area was Wabasha County, which achieved almost 116 per cent of its quota.

Fillmore County reached 100 per cent of its quota; Houston County, 104.6. Only area county to fall short of its mark was Olmsted County, which reached but 96.4 of its 1954 quota.

22nd in State
Winona County ranked 22nd out of 87 Minnesota counties in per cent of quota attained, according to a letter received by Winder from the state bond chairman, Henry S. Kingman, Minneapolis. Cash sales of series E and H savings bonds in Minnesota during December were $10,000,000 or 48.4 per cent greater than in the previous year and established a 9-year postwar record for December volume. This compares with a national gain of 17 per cent.

State sales for all of 1954 were $92,300,000, a gain of 18.1 per cent over 1953 and the highest since 1949. National sales were up 12 per cent.

It is estimated that $22,000,000 of Minnesota's volume came from purchases by 88,000 wage and salary workers through payroll savings plans and the remainder from "over the counter" buyers in banks and other financial institutions.

A summary of area county bond sales for 1954:

	Jan.-Dec. 1954	Per Cent Attained
Fillmore	$ 630,751	100
Houston	377,934	104.6
Olmsted	1,441,118	96.4
Wabasha	556,626	115.9

Americans Are 'Lousy Salesmen,' Businessmen Told

By ROBERT EGGLESON
Daily News Staff Writer

Americans were typified as the "lousiest salesmen in the world" by Kenneth W. Haagensen, director of public relations for the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co., in an address at the Association of Commerce's 43rd annual meeting Tuesday night at the Oaks.

Speaking on "What Kind of Salesman Are You?" Haagensen contended that telling the rest of the world that we must "sell" the United States to the rest of the world and can only do so if we know something about those "customers" and meet their desires.

The speaker pointed out that "we live by our ability to sell," and illustrated this by an example of an individual who must first sell himself to management and then to the people with whom he deals.

Terminology as a "force bent on destroying us," Haagensen said, "if you believe in our American system, you must learn about Communism." Socialism and Fascism impart similar obligations, he added.

"We have no better guides than the 10 Commandments and the Golden Rule," he continued, "yet we seem to have an abundance of experts on what is wrong." Illustrating this, he referred to the practice of getting a psychological "lift" from pouring out individual troubles, which are often amplified by others until they produce unnecessary friction among groups in this country.

This he termed the negative philosophy of Americans and he called upon everyone to "throw off the cloak of negativity and put on a cloak of positiveness."

He compared our responsibilities of "selling" America to a product that is 98 per cent perfect. "Our job is to sell the good points; the 98 per cent, our competitors will take care of the other 2 per cent."

A colorful speaker, Haagensen used a number of appropriate and humorous stories to illustrate his remarks. Speaking of the shortcomings of Americans as salesmen, he contrasted the people of Texas (as real salesmen), interpolating, "They have more rivers and less water than any state I know of."

"The challenge," Haagensen said, "is the spirit of the men of World War I, of World War II and of Korea: The men we asked to go out and preserve our way of life. If their spirit could only be here to ask us what we are doing to preserve the great heritage they had to leave behind."

Hull Toastmaster
Toastmaster William M. Hull, in his opening remarks, welcomed the more than 350 Winona business and professional members of the Association of Commerce and their guests "to the last annual meeting of the Association of Commerce."

Later in the meeting, the membership, by a voice vote, approved altering the by-laws to change the name to the "Winona Chamber of Commerce."

T. W. Smeed, retiring president, summed up the year's activities, recalling the street lighting installed on nine city blocks, establishment

Polio Tag Day Slated Saturday During Parade

Mrs. Frank Subjeck, Winona County campaign director for the 1955 March of Dimes, announced today that Winona's polio Tag Day will be held Saturday from 11 a. m. until 3 p. m.

Forty students from the College of Saint Teresa will solicit contributions in downtown Winona during the Winter Carnival parade Saturday afternoon.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said this week that it will spend $9 million for continuance of trials with the Salk polio vaccine this year. About 100,000 Minnesota youngsters will be offered the vaccine, said the group, if the reports of last year's field trials are favorable. A final report is expected in the spring.

If the vaccine works and is licensed, the foundation will supply enough of it to state health officers for about nine million vaccinations to be given immediately. However, said the foundation, there will not be enough vaccine to protect the entire nation in 1955, even though it will be available commercially.

The national foundation, through its county chairmen, have issued an appeal for the immediate return of March of Dimes cards which have been mailed to all homes in the area and have urged a generous response in all polio fund-raising activities.

Thurley Homes' Annual Rentals About $50,000

An operating budget that will be in effect until March 31, 1955, was adopted Tuesday by the Housing & Redevelopment Authority.

Based upon an estimated rental income of about $50,000 per year, the budget is for the year beginning March 31, 1955. However, since the Arthur C. Thurley homes actually moved into the management stage Jan. 1, the first three months of this year will be based on a quarter of the new budget.

C. H. Abrams, field accountant of the Chicago Public Housing Administration's field office, who is in Winona to assist in setting up management accounts, explained that receipts will finance operation and help establish a reserve.

Once established, the reserve will be used to reduce the amount received by the authority under the annual contributions contract with the federal government. The federal monies are used to retire long-term financing and pay interest on the bonds issued for that purpose.

Executive Director Arthur A. Gallien told the commissioners that two families have moved from the site recently (one out of town, the other to a location near place of employment) but that he expects to fill the vacancies by the end of the week.

He added that there is practically no waiting list for families eligible to occupy larger apartments. He said that all families who may be eligible, particularly the larger families, should register with the authority and may make application at this time so that they may be admitted when vacancies occur.

Present for the meeting were Chairman A. L. Kitt, W. J. Thurrow, Roy K. Carpenter, Frank Cunningham and Gallien.

Rushford Lets Water Contracts

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special)—Four contracts totaling $68,265 were awarded by the city council Tuesday night for construction of a new deep well, pump house, water softening plant and extension of water mains.

Largest of the awards went to Slaght Co., Prairie du Chien, Wis., for installation and service of water mains. This contract totaled $4,384. Others went to Termite Co., Minneapolis, $7,033, for a Zeolite softening plant; Roger G. Steinler, Prairie du Chien, pump house, $10,429, and Neffenger Drilling Co., Monroe, Wis., $5,219, deep well. There were 31 bidders.

Bids for water meters and a pump were rejected pending further study. Entire costs of the project are expected to reach $90,000.

Plans call for drilling in the Brooklyn area and extension of mains in districts where water is not now supplied. Davey Engineering Co., La Crosse, is supervising the planning and subsequent construction which will start within the next few weeks.

Minnesota Citian Fined for 3 Lines

George Gilsdorf, Minnesota City, was fined $10 and costs in Goodview justice court Monday on a charge of angling in the Mississippi River with three lines.

Gilsdorf, who pleaded guilty to the charge, was arrested by Game Warden Ronald Shager Saturday.

Jury Informed Of Settlement

BULLETIN

Members of the jury were informed at 2 p. m. today that a settlement had been reached in both cases during the noon hour. Terms were not disclosed.

Two dermatologists Tuesday afternoon expressed conflicting opinions as to the cause of a skin condition cited by a Beach, N. D., housewife as grounds for a $52,000 lawsuit against the Proctor & Gamble Distributing Co.

One of the skin specialists, Dr. John J. Sevenants, La Crosse, testified before a District Court jury here that Mrs. Bruce K. Miller suffered an acute dermatitis on her left hand as a result of repeated use of a detergent—Tide—distributed by the Proctor & Gamble firm.

The other dermatologist, Dr. F. W. Lynch, St. Paul, however, held that Mrs. Miller's condition which resulted in her hospitalization for 2½ months early last year stemmed from other causes and declared that it was his belief that normal use of a household detergent such as Tide would never produce anything more serious than a slight degree of chapping of the hands.

$67,000 Involved
The two doctors were the principal witnesses during Tuesday afternoon's court session at which Judge Karl Finkelnburg is presiding. Being tried simultaneously are two claims for damages totaling $67,000 brought by Mrs. Miller and her husband.

The Millers contend that in 1952 Mrs. Miller began to notice an itching on her left hand; that the condition became progressively worse and ultimately lesions appeared on the hand and a secondary infection set in for which she required hospitalization and extended home treatment. The condition, the Millers say, resulted from her use of Tide and on several occasions another Proctor & Gamble product, Joy.

The Millers are represented by M. A. Goldberg and Loren W. Torgerson, Winona, and Charles Murnane, St. Paul. Attorneys for the distributing company are Ernest A. Rich and Robert L. Hoppe, Minneapolis, and James O. Coates, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Change in Order
Dr. Sevenants, who was called by Murnane as a witness Tuesday morning, continued his testimony until midway in the afternoon session.

Then, by special agreement among the attorneys in the case, Dr. Lynch took the stand out of order as a witness for the defendant.

Rich explained that the St. Paul dermatologist was called out of order because of commitments which would not permit his remaining in Winona until today.

Scheduled to be resumed at 10 a. m., the trial did not get under way until an hour later. During this time attorneys were in conference with the court in Judge Finkelnburg's chambers.

At 11 a. m. Murnane recalled Miller, who had been on the witness stand for a few minutes when court was adjourned at 5 p. m. Tuesday.

Miller testified briefly as to household duties performed by his wife since her skin condition developed and then he was excused from the stand.

At this point Murnane requested another conference in chambers to discuss several stipulations, explaining that he expected to rest his case after the stipulations had been heard.

The attorney retired to the chambers and remained there until 12:15 p. m. Under direct examination by Murnane Tuesday afternoon Dr. Sevenants began his testimony with a description of skin structure.

He explained that it was his opinion that the human skin has three principal defenses against external substances: An oily covering, a layer of dead skin and a very slightly acid surface.

When a hand is exposed to a detergent, Dr. Sevenants said, the oily layer is dissolved and washed away, there is a swelling of the upper layer of cells and the alkaline composition of the detergent causes a change in the chemistry of the cells so that water and the detergent tend to penetrate into the living part of the skin.

The evaporation of the water, he said, causes the skin to become dry, red and eventually to develop cracks.

Most detergents are highly alkaline, Dr. Sevenants explained, but for short periods of time the acidity of the skin can counteract the alkalinity of the detergent.

"If the skin is exposed to the detergent for a long period of time, however, or at repeated intervals, in some cases it loses its ability to become normal again," Dr. Sevenants continued, "and this represents a loss of one of the defense mechanisms of the skin."

In subsequent questioning he said that serious damage to the skin from the single use of a detergent was extremely rare and that damage usually developed from frequent exposures over an extended period.

He said that for this reason he did not approve of the use of the commonly used term, "detergent burn," for the development of such a condition since the term implied damage to the skin from a single exposure or from an overstrong solution.

The alkaline content of Tide, Dr. Sevenants said, was rated at 10 on a scale running from zero to 14 on which 7 was established as neutral.

"Is detergent dermatitis a widely known and well-recognized condition in the medical field?" Murnane asked and Dr. Sevenants replied that it was.

In cross-examination Coates asked whether contact dermatitis could result from contact with any of a number of soaps and detergents. The witness replied that it could.

An extended discussion developed between the witness and the attorney over the use of such terms as skin sensitivity and allergy.

After the definitions had been agreed on Coates asked whether a housewife could be sensitive to a number of substances "with which she comes in contact in her daily life such as nickel, furniture polish, shoe leather dyes, insect sprays and other things."

The doctor said she could. "If when Mrs. Miller came to your office in December of 1953 and had told you she had been using some other washing powder other than Tide would you have reached the conclusion that her condition was due to exposure to that other product?" Coates inquired.

"If her history was negative in regard to the other contacts concerned," he replied, "I might have reached the conclusion that the other product caused it."

Coates then asked whether the fact that Mrs. Miller's condition was severe only on her left hand (Continued on Page 12, Column 6.)

Shopping for Wife Can Be an Adventure

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Maybe you can help me. I've been struggling with this one for some years now. About 1953, glancing through a "man's magazine," I saw an ad for "Frenchie nightgowns" which would be mailed in "plain wrapper" on receipt of $3.87.

In about two minutes I felt like an underworld character. I phoned the company, and a voice, low, mysterious and not at all Frenchie—in fact, Brooklyn—said in practically a whisper that I should go to another address and "ask for Charlie."

Now all I was doing was trying to buy a nightgown for my B.W. and they made it sound like I was smuggling dope.

"I'd better not go myself," I decided, tremblingly. I asked a friend to do it.

He climbed three flights and "asked for Charlie," but a fellow there gave him a wink. What was it?

"Well, I, uh, wanted one of those Frenchie nightgowns," my friend stammered.

As Herman—that was Charlie's stand-in's name—wrapped it, he said to my friend, "Are you from out of town?"

In other words, he thought he was a square. The nightgown turned out to be sheer lace on the left side, practically nothing on the right side, and cut to the waist. The B.W. loved it—till it came back from the laundry. It had shrunk till it was about the size of a cucumber for a midge.

Undiscouraged, I decided this Christmas to buy the B.W. a "shortie nightgown."

But the saleswoman, possibly noticing the gray in my crewcut, brought out a nightgown that came to the ankles.

"I want a 'shortie,'" I insisted. "One that just comes to the knees and the stomach."

Women customers were snickering at my description of the length. Finally, I persuaded her to sell me "shorties in red and white, but it was clear that the saleswoman didn't think I knew anybody young enough to wear such frivolous nightgowns.

"It's for my wife!" I spluttered, defensively. . . . and more laughter came from the females in hearing distance.

Two days later, I was back in the store. The saleswoman was happy to see me—she said, "Oh, so you did make a mistake? You want a longer one?"

"No," I snapped. "I also want one in black. A shortie!" Just yesterday I told the B.W. my sad story.

"Your mistake was in telling her it was for your wife," the B.W. said. "You should have told her it

Knowland Puts

Appeal to Ike On 11 Prisoners

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) carried to President Eisenhower today his fight against any major concessions to Red China for the release of 11 imprisoned American fliers.

He attended a White House breakfast with the President. Knowland hoped to sway Eisenhower against any concessions to the Chinese Communists the California suspects may be implied in the negotiations with Peiping by Dag Hammarskjold, United Nations secretary general.

Hammarskjold conferred later in the morning with Secretary of State Dulles at a meeting credited in some quarters to Knowland's insistence, that the administration look further into details of the U.N. official's recent conversations with Chou En-lai, Red China's Premier and foreign minister.

Previously, Hammarskjold reported on his Peiping visit to Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., American ambassador to the U.N., who said he was "confident" of eventual release of the fliers.

On the basis of a second-hand briefing on Chou's statements, Dulles told a news conference yesterday it was too early to say whether Hammarskjold's mission was a success or a failure.

Knowland, who has said the U.N. official's efforts failed, declared in a Chicago speech Monday that Hammarskjold "favors the admission of Red China into the United Nations."

Eisenhower has not indicated any willingness to bargain with the Communists. But to combat what he obviously believes is likely to become a U.N. move for concessions to the Reds, Knowland was reported ready to tell the President he is convinced nothing short of the free world's abandonment of Asia would satisfy the Peiping regime.

Democrats May Launch Drive To Cut Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats on the House Ways and Means Committee said today they are considering an early drive to cut everybody's income taxes.

The move, if it develops, would be a reversal of earlier strategy to wait until next year to consider tax cuts.

It would run head-on into President Eisenhower's declaration on Monday against tax cuts this year before an anticipated $2,408,000,000 deficit in the bookkeeping year beginning July 1.

It also seemed likely to ram into significant Democratic opposition in the Senate where Sen. Byrd of Virginia and Sen. George of Georgia already are on record as against tax reductions this year.

Rep. Boggs (D-La.) said he favored writing a general income tax cut into the Eisenhower administration's bill to postpone about three billion dollars in corporation and estate tax cuts, now set to become effective on April 1. Among others known to favor some such action are Reps. Dingell (Mich.) and Mills (Ark.), high ranking Democrats on the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee.

They talked generally of a $100 increase in exemptions for each taxpayer and each dependent—a move that would cut federal revenues by about 2½ billion dollars over a full year, and relieve about four million low-income or big-family taxpayers from any income tax bill at all.

Also under study was a flat $20 tax cut for each taxpayer and each dependent. This would cost the Treasury about 1½ billions a year.

None of the proposals under study would take effect until July 1 or possibly next Jan. 1.

New Movie Stars Have to Act Now

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Samuel Goldwyn today offered a reason for the death of new movie stars: They have to act nowadays.

Theater men, fan magazine editors and casting directors have loudly complained recently that the studios have developed few stars of major importance in the past few years. (Notable exceptions: Marilyn Monroe, Marlon Brando, Martin and Lewis.) Goldwyn, one of the sagacious minds in the film industry, says the reason is the change in audiences.

"You can't make a star by publicity nowadays," the veteran (40 years) producer remarked. "The days are gone when you could take a beautiful girl, give her a glamor buildup and make her a star. Audiences are more mature now; they demand credibility from their stars."

"Actors have to be not only attractive. They have to act as well. The fault in the lack of enough new stars is not with the studios, which have agents everywhere looking for new talent. The trouble is that there is just so much talent to go around."

Although new stars haven't been turned out in the numbers that Hollywood used to produce, there have been several promising finds, Goldwyn observed. He cited Grace Kelly, Audrey Hepburn and Jean Simmons among the actresses. All three have that rare quality of beauty and acting ability.

At 70, Goldwyn shows no sign of slowing down. As we lunched in his private dining room, he enthused about his forthcoming project, "Guys and Dolls." The film will cost a whopping five million—one million went for the story rights alone. And all of it will come out of Goldwyn's pocket. For many years, he has financed his own pictures.

"I have faith in the future of the motion picture business," he remarked. "If you have a flop—and I've had my share; I'm not that much of a genius—you can lose your shirt. But if you have a success, you can make more money than ever before."

"Guys and Dolls" will star Marlon Brando, Frank Sinatra, Jean Simmons and Vivian Blaine.

Stassen Gives Support to Ladejinsky

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreign Aid Administrator Harold E. Stassen has cited 12 reasons for believing Wolf Ladejinsky, Russian-born land reform expert, deserves the security clearance Stassen granted him.

Though the Agriculture Department had labeled Ladejinsky a security risk, Stassen said yesterday he later made 12 findings which convinced him Ladejinsky meets the requirements of the federal security program.

Stassen said, in a summary of the case, that Ladejinsky's hiring by the Foreign Operations Administration for a land reform program in Indochina was in keeping with "fundamental principles of justice and of human rights."

Ladejinsky, 55, had security clearance as State Department agricultural attaché in Tokyo. But when agricultural attachés were transferred by law to the Agriculture Department, Secretary Benson ruled Ladejinsky a security risk.

Stassen said he later intervened in the case because of White House interest in resolving the conflicting decisions by the State and Agriculture departments.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a critic of Benson's role in the controversy, yesterday introduced a bill to form a 12-member special commission of government officials and private citizens to investigate the entire security program.

Stassen said his decision to hire Ladejinsky was based on these findings:

Ladejinsky "is not, and never has been, a Communist"; his government service record is unblemished; his late attaché program in Japan helped thwart Communism; he was not a member of any subversive organizations; his writings "are not favorable to the Communist system"; and "no evidence was located that he at any time had written or spoken favorably of Communism."

Women Killed by Passenger Train

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—Standing on the tracks with her arms folded, Mrs. Pearl Roscoe, 65, calmly faced the New York Central's Mercury yesterday as the passenger train swiftly bore down on her. Moments later she died beneath the wheels of its big locomotive.

The woman was the mother of Robert Roscoe, 28, who was committed to the Iowa State Hospital for the Criminally Insane for the slaying of Mrs. Beulah Pontius last July 12.

Roscoe admitted shooting Mrs. Pontius, a mother of six, "because she was a dangerous Communist and I was an FBI agent doing my country a service." Police said the man, a neighbor of Roscoe's, had no subversive connections and Roscoe never was an FBI agent.

Elevated Expressway Planned in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Plans for Detroit's first elevated expressway were announced today almost before motorists became acquainted with a looping interchange connecting the city's two major expressways.

The elevated highway would connect with the end of the John C. Lodge Expressway in northwestern Detroit and soar 17 feet over James Couzens Highway. It would span James Couzens — already a parkway — and traverse it four miles to the northwestern city limits, some 15 miles from downtown.

The elevated would cost an estimated 20 million dollars. The start of construction will depend on the availability of federal funds.

A large portion of the complex interchange connecting the Lodge and the east-west Edsel Ford Expressway was opened yesterday.

10 Practical Nursing Students Receive Caps

"You can get the most out of practical nursing by letting practical nursing get the most out of you" were the opening words of Dr. Max L. DeBolt, as he addressed a class of 10 students in capping ceremonies at the Central Junior High School auditorium Tuesday evening.

The class, students at the Winona School of Practical Nursing, heard Dr. DeBolt point out positive attitudes to be sought after and negative attitudes to be avoided if they were to succeed in their profession.

Positive habits of loyalty, dependability, courtesy and tact as they relate to public service were discussed by DeBolt.

Negative Habits
He cited the negative habits of worry, fear and indecision and pointed out how necessary it is for young persons to subdue these habits if they find they possess them.

"Faith," said DeBolt, "is the antidote for fear and worry. Practical nurses often must instill within a patient's mind the characteristic of faith."

"A person's destiny is the culmination of her thoughts, actions, habits and character," he concluded. "Sow a thought and reap an act—sow an act and reap a habit—sow a habit and reap a character—sow a character and reap your destiny."

Presiding at the affair was Miss Lois Galer, instructor; Mrs. George C. Jackson, superintendent of nurses at Winona General Hospital, presented the class, and Miss LaVon Fernholz and Miss

Should You Make a Will? Here's Bar Association Advice

If you have property, whether real or personal, which you want to distribute to particular persons or in a particular way at your death, make out a will.

The Minnesota State Bar Association says if you do not leave a properly executed will, your property will be divided among persons who stand in a certain relationship to you, in a fixed order of precedence. More specifically, your property (except the homestead) is distributed one-third to your surviving husband or wife, and two-thirds to your children. If you die leaving a spouse and only one child, your spouse takes one-half, and your child one-half.

The homestead is distributed differently. Your spouse takes a life estate (use of the property during life); the children take a remainder interest, or what remains after subtracting the life estate.

If you die leaving a spouse but no children or grandchildren, your spouse takes all.

If you should die leaving no children or spouse, your property passes to persons standing in the following relationship to you: Parents; brothers, sisters; next of kin. Finally, in the absence of living kin, your property passes to the state or county of Minnesota.

It is the rare case where this method of distribution coincides with the intentions of the deceased. Also, a properly drawn will facilitates the probate of your property. The will does not add any expense, in fact it is more likely to result in a saving to the estate.

How do you make a will?

A will is a unique legal document which must be executed with the precise formality required by law. A will must be (1) in writing, (2) signed, and (3) attested and subscribed to by at least two competent witnesses, who must sign in the presence of the person who makes the will, and in the presence of each other.

Beyond these formalities, it is well to remember that a will must be carefully drafted to accomplish the intention of the deceased within the limitations and in the manner prescribed by law. It is too often true that the intention of a deceased has been frustrated by the use of inexact or unsuitable language. In other words, drawing a will is not like writing a letter, and should never be undertaken informally, without competent assistance.

Good Things Happen, Too

All too often the gloomy and tragic news rates a banner headline. To correct this situation Changing Times, the Kiplinger magazine, has assembled some statistics that reflect the sunny side of life in the United States.

There are 162,922,000 Americans who are not members of the Communist Party.

Some 37,011,460 couples will stay more or less happily married during the year.

On the average, there are 63,868,000 people working to bring home the bacon.

Last year, the scheduled airlines safely carried passengers 18,902,134,841 miles in the U.S. and possessions; railroads safely carried passengers 31,674,931,200 miles.

Some 162,717,890 persons will not die of cancer in 1955.

And 162,380,580 persons will be safe from fatal heart attacks.

About 629,000,000 acres of forest land will not be set on fire by careless smokers and picnic-goers this year.

Most of the time, 15,720,000 organized workers are not on strike.

Of the 18,977,472 little boys in the country who are under the age of 10, only six or possibly seven will have to go through the terrible ordeal of being president of the United States.

At least 162,944,424 people have not been frightened by seeing flying saucers hurtle through the air.

The Internal Revenue Service will find that 43,946,154 income tax returns are filed correctly in 1955.

Finally, there are 83 countries in the world that have not discovered the secret of the hydrogen bomb.

These Days

No U.S. Method Concerning Security

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — The President's statement concerning Wolf Ladejnsky left me wobbly because at last it was disclosed that the government of the United States has no system, no method, no procedure, no uniformity concerning security. What the President told the newsmen, in answer to their questions, was, in summary:

John Foster Dulles and Scott McLeod thought Ladejnsky was excellent for employment by the government of the United States; Ezra Taft Benson, who four months earlier refused to release Ladejnsky to the FOA because he was too valuable to the Agriculture Department, now declared him to be a security risk on information which, to use the President's own words, scared the President; that Harold Stassen, having the same information that Mr. Dulles and Mr. Benson had, chose to employ Ladejnsky, after consultation with the White House, about which the President apparently did not know, because he was not a security risk and was suitable for sensitive employment.

THEN PRES. EISENHOWER took the position that all these men were right because they were responsible, which seems rather illogical because under our Constitution, the President is responsible for the executive branch of the government, ours not being a ministerial arrangement such as the British use. Heads of departments in the United States are handymen in the executive entourage.

The question then arises: What becomes of Ladejnsky's reputation, his dignity as a human being, his fitness for employment? There was an awful howl when Sen. Joe McCarthy raised the issue of Major Peress, an open Communist. But here is a man who is not even accused of being a Communist. Actually he stands accused of nothing. Pres. Eisenhower ceased to be "scared" by Ladejnsky because he had heard that Ladejnsky had written an anti-Communist book. That may be so, but I can find no record of such a book. I am sure that what the President should have said was that Ladejnsky had had an anti-Communist career in the Far East, for so the State Department has indicated in its publicity on the case.

What it all points up is that there is no plan, no method, no adequate investigation, no over-all system — and men's reputations are at stake. The government ought not to employ a single Communist, but does that mean that a bureaucrat wants to get rid of a man, all he needs to do is smear him with that tar brush?

I WANT TO SAY HERE that I do not know Wolf Ladejnsky, have never met him, and have never seen a confidential government file on him. I did not know he existed before this controversy started. Therefore, I do not know whether such information as Ezra Taft Benson gave the President would scare me or whether the information that Scott McLeod and Harold Stassen possess would cause me to embrace him as a fellow anti-Communist. What I do know is that as I read the transcript of the President's press conference, I could see only confusion, lack of system, and an open door for Communists to walk into our government.

What is required quickly is a rule. The Department of Justice, assisted by J. Edgar Hoover, who apart from being head of the FBI knows the subject, ought to work out a system of security screening, applicable to every department of government, leaving nothing to the judgment of bureaucrats, petty or great. Their judgment is often too whimsical and self-serving. Such a rule ought to be made public with clear definitions of terms and unmistakable methods of screening. There is no need for secrecy about the rule. If necessary, for enforcement, it should be passed by Congress. In a word, the present chaos ought to be brought to an end. No independent commission of citizens is needed to devise a plan because precisely what would they know about it? Most citizens cannot distinguish between a Communist and a civil service reformer, between a Trotskyist and a single-taxer. This is a technical subject that requires a technical approach.

Unless a system is just, it is not worth while. The whim of a bureaucrat caught in the pride of personal opinion may not be the pursuit of justice. It may be nothing but cocktail party conversation by frivolous people tearing down other men's lives. It may even be personal vengeance. This is not good enough for the United States.

publican party in the United States last November. It affected the Republican Senate candidate whom Ike most wanted to win, Clifford Case of New Jersey.

Because of that, and because Sen. Case had the opposition of McCarthy and the reactionary wing of the GOP, Ike made a special trip to help him.

What the President still doesn't know, however, is that the man who led the opposition to Case has the potent monetary support of our good neighbors in Latin America—especially Brazil.

For the man who was trying to split the Republican party wide open in New Jersey and did his best to persuade ex-Cong. Fred Hartley, also Republican, to run for the Senate against Case is the chief public relations man for the Pan American coffee bureau, James Selvaige.

Selvaige spent a small fortune flooding New Jersey with campaign literature against Ike's friend, Case, and promoting the McCarthy wing of the GOP. And the splinter movement he tried to start inside the GOP, if successful in New Jersey, would have spread to other states.

He sidetracked all his other work, including that for Pan American coffee. But that didn't face the Pan Americans—especially Brazil. They continued to pay him handsomely just the same—a total of $108,896 a year.

Fed up with the delay of Panamanian police in solving the assassination mystery, ex-ambassador Bob Heutematte, a former Yale man and longtime envoy in Washington, telephoned Eddie Miller, former Assistant Secretary of State, and asked him for the loan of some New York cops.

Miller serves as adviser to Mayor Bob Wagner of New York, who was delighted to help. But the State Department demurred. Assistant Sec. of State Henry Holland said the United States couldn't send police to another nation without an official request.

At this point, Panama made the request official. The State Department removed its objection. The New York cops arrived on a Wednesday, broke the case on Friday.

Medical Aid Gives Diabetic Normal Life

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Not so many years ago, a person suffering from diabetes was doomed either to death or a life as a semi-invalid. The diabetic of today, however, can with medical advice and planning, lead a virtually normal life. Insulin and proper diets make the difference.

Diabetes is a chronic disease, and if you have it now, you will have it for the rest of your life. While there is no known cure for it, diabetes can be controlled. And you can control it yourself with your doctor's guidance.

Dietary Restrictions About half of the nation's more than 1,000,000 known diabetics can manage on dietary restrictions without the use of insulin, providing their weight is normal. Another 30 per cent can easily control the disease with relatively small amounts of insulin. The remaining 20 per cent — usually children and young adults — need both careful control of their diets and regulation of insulin.

As I pointed out yesterday, diabetes results because of the failure of the pancreas to secrete enough insulin to convert sugar into body energy. To make up this loss of natural function, it is necessary, in many cases, to supply your body with insulin medically. This insulin must be injected with a hypodermic needle, since we have not yet found a way to administer it by mouth.

Checking the Sugar Before treatment with insulin is begun, however, it is necessary to determine the amount of sugar present in the blood and urine. By examining urine specimens, taken four or five times a day and before each meal and at bedtime, your doctor can determine the amount of insulin you will require.

Chemical tablets are available, with color charts, to inform you of the percentage of sugar in your urine.

If your doctor decides you need insulin injections, he will show you how to administer them yourself. I'll have more to tell you tomorrow about the different types of insulin available and the effects they will have upon you.

Reds Use Airmen To Blackmail U.S.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—When Dag Hammarskjöld returned from Red China, where he sought the release of 11 captured American airmen, he said the door can be kept open for them, "given restraint on all sides."

This would indicate he had concluded on his own that "restraint on all sides" was needed to win the fieriest freedom or that the Chinese Communists had told him it was a necessary preliminary.

Sea Voyage Adds a Chin Every 4 Days

By HAL BOYLE

SOMEWHERE IN THE CARIBBEAN (AP)—Leaves from a cruising notebook.

The pleasantest feature of a winter cruise is that once you are at sea all the worries of land become unimportant.

The word "diet," by unspoken agreement, drops from everyone's vocabulary. Time becomes meaningless. You don't need a calendar to chronicle the passing days. You tell time by your chins.

This morning, for example, when I got out my razor I found I had a brand new chin to shave—a round, firm, fully packed chin slightly browned by the sun. When I remarked on this to the steward, he explained:

"Oh, that means we've been at sea four days. A three-day man your age and weight, who enjoys his food, can grow a new chin every four days without any trouble at all."

Since I started with two chins and we will be at sea 13 days, that means I'll get back to New York with five and one-fourth chins. And somehow I don't mind it at all.

Our ship is the Furness Line's Ocean Monarch, one of Britain's newest and trimmest cruise vessels. When we boarded her—Frances, our daughter, Tracy Ann, and I—I started to walk right off again. There was a telephone in the stateroom, and if there is anything I detest on a vacation it is the sight of a telephone.

"Don't worry," said Frances. "Anybody who phones you from shore will have to pay $4.50 for a three-minute call, and if I know your friends—and after 17 years I feel I know them only too well—you are as safe as if you were in heaven."

How right she was! Every morning I lie in bed for half an hour just admiring that telephone. It is boudoir white in color, and it is the most beautiful telephone in the world. It never rings.

Federal Court Decision Cited

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department said today a federal court decision in New Mexico, holding that the wage-hour law applies to construction work on government-owned and operated military bases, holds "major importance to workers and contractors throughout the country."

A Labor Department spokesman said a number of contractors on military bases have disputed the application to them of the wage-hour law, which requires payment of a 75-cent hourly minimum wage and time-and-a-half rates for work beyond 40 hours a week.

The department said the court found that a contractor had failed to pay overtime to employees working at the Holloman Air Force Base, Alamogordo, N. M.

Actress Gets Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Karen Verne, 36, won a divorce yesterday after testifying that when her husband Harold R. Suen, 55, was out of town, he'd call her almost hourly day and night. She charged cruelty.

Through the Young Women's Christian Association, which is 100 years old in 1955, the "power" of women in the United States is linked with that of women in 65 other countries in understanding of one another, promoting democratic principles, and countering those forces opposed to the Christian way of life.

From the events of yesterday, it appears either that (1) Hammarskjöld misunderstood the Reds or (2) the Red Chinese think restraint applies only to the United States and that now they can push this country quite a bit.

Didn't Wait Long The Communists didn't wait long to test the United States after Hammarskjöld's return. It may be only the first of many tests. Yesterday they claimed capture of the Nationalist-held island of Yikiang-shan off the China coast. The Nationalists denied the claim.

This was done almost under the nose of the U.S. 7th Fleet, which is in the vicinity of Formosa and which are held by the Nationalists of Chiang Kai-shek, American ally.

The United States, not recognizing the Communists as the legitimate leaders of China, has not only backed Chiang but has announced it would defend Formosa and the Pescadores against Red attack.

The presence of the 7th Fleet is probably the only reason the Chinese Communists have not yet attempted to capture it.

Since the Reds have been sniping away for some time at islands nearer the mainland, perhaps as stepping stones for an eventual assault on Formosa, the Eisenhower administration has faced a problem.

Should the United States get into the fight if the Reds tried to take some of the small Nationalist-held islands? If it did, and attacked the mainland, would this mean all-out war with Red China and its ally Russia?

U. S. May Yield The United States could well exhaust itself in a war on the China mainland, much to the profit of Russia.

Would it be just as well then, since to do otherwise might start a world war, not to try to stop the Reds from taking some of the smaller islands near the mainland if they were not essential to the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores?

The Eisenhower administration faces one more question, which is hardly more pleasant or comforting than the others.

If the United States held back and let the Reds hop from island to island, would they have restraint enough not to try to attack Formosa or would they look upon American restraint as weakness and then plunge ahead?

In case anyone suspects there may be a secret deal to let the Reds have these islands in return for the captured Americans, Hammarskjöld said he made no deals in Red China.

But if the United States wants the American captives back, it will have to show restraint, perhaps under repeated Red affronts, and the Reds know it.

Decision for Senate Lincoln Recess Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats withheld a decision today on a Republican request for a 10-day Senate recess during February to let GOP members make Lincoln Day speeches.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, said before leaving for treatment at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., he is checking to see what sort of agreements were reached in the past.

"From what I have found, the leaders usually agree to avoid any controversial votes for four or five days," he said in an interview. "It's President Eisenhower's program the Republicans want to interrupt so we'll have to decide later how much time to take."

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP leader, said he had suggested that no controversial votes be taken between Feb. 10 and Feb. 20. Knowland said he expects to make several speeches in that period.

The Republican National Committee has been lining up senators for Lincoln Day speeches, but Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said he is setting up his own schedule. He said he has engagements to speak in Bridgeport, Conn., Appleton, Wis., and Chicago and may schedule some other appearances.

Wisconsin Assembly Sets Late Tax Date

MADISON (AP)—If Wisconsin's lawmakers and governor agree, Easter Sunday will come before the state income tax deadline this year.

Easter this year is April 10. A bill passed Tuesday by the Assembly would make the tax deadline April 15 instead of March 15. Giving individuals—but not corporations—another 31 days in which to puzzle over the tax blanks.

The Senate is expected to act on the bill today. The measure was passed by the upper house immediately after the assemblymen passed the bill.

The vote in the Assembly was 73-25. The Republican majority was solidly behind the proposal, which had been offered by the interim legislative council, but Democrats split on the issue.

Democrats previously pleaded for a delay in action on the bill, saying more time was needed to study it. Then they decided to go along with the passage. The bill was passed without sending it to committee for hearings.

The Republican caucus had decided to push it through in answer to a plea from the state tax department for speedy action.

The law is designed to bring the state regulations on income taxes into conformance with new federal income tax laws. Under the bill, corporations would continue filing their returns on the old March 15 deadline.

A plea, a purge and a plan were the other highlights of Tuesday's legislative meetings.

The plea came from Assembly Democrats after announcement that the Republican speaker of the Assembly, Mark Catlin Jr., of Appleton, had named fellow Republicans as chairman of all 25 Assembly committees.

Democrats took the floor to say they hoped that the full committee rosters, announced later, will include more Democrats than there have been on committees in recent years.

They said they were displeased over the fact that only one Democrat—George Molinaro of Kenosha—was among the nine assemblymen named last week to the Assembly seats on the powerful joint Senate - Assembly Finance Committee.

There are 64 Republicans and 36 Democrats in the Assembly. The purge came in a separate meeting of Assembly Democrats who voted to oust one of their group, Arthur J. Balzer of West Allis, from future party caucuses.

The caucus policy committee proposed the ouster action because of Balzer's support of Catlin's nomination to the speaker's post a week ago. At the time, Balzer said that "I owe the Democrats nothing and won election on my own."

After the caucus, he confirmed that he had been ousted, but he said he had no hard feelings and would "continue to be a Democrat."

Child Falls From Dam and Drowns

NORTHFIELD, Minn. (AP)—After-kindergarten play brought death late Tuesday to Tommy Moore, 6, when he slipped from a dam into the icy water of a lake on the Carleton College campus and was drowned.

Danny Lockrem, also 6, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lockrem, ran for help after he saw his playmate topple into the water.

Firemen recovered the body from eight feet of water in about 20 minutes but efforts to revive Tommy failed. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Moore who had moved into Northfield only 10 days ago from a rural area.

Panama Commission Presses Inquiry

PANAMA (AP)—Given a green light by the Supreme Court, a three-man National Assembly commission pressed ahead today with its investigation of charges that ex-President Jose Ramon Guizado was involved in the assassination of his predecessor President Jose Antonio Remon.

The court ruled yesterday that only the Assembly could try the former chief executive. Supporters of Guizado had argued that his alleged complicity in the murder plot occurred while he was foreign minister, before he became president, and he therefore was entitled to trial by the Supreme Court.

The constitution provides that the National Assembly tries presidents, while the Supreme Court tries Cabinet members. The court ruled that the Assembly tries presidents for offenses committed before they take office as well as while in office.

Six other persons under arrest will be tried in the regular courts.

TOKYO (AP)—Tokyo police, stung by criticism that desk sergeants were cold and high-handed, have hired women receptionists. The girls are training in department stores and banks "learning the finer points of gracious service," the department said.

Wiley Nominee For Judgeship Turned Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wiley reports the Justice Department has turned down his nomination for the vacant federal judgeship in Wisconsin, but adds that the appointment is not the business of Henry Ringling, Republican national committeeman.

Wiley, the state senior Republican senator, said Monday the Justice Department has declined to go along with him in his nomination of Charles Ashley, former Milwaukee County GOP chairman, to the judgeship. There was no reason given for the department's action.

The post at stake is the judgeship approved by Congress last year for the Eastern District of Federal Court in Milwaukee. The only such justice in the court now is Judge Robert Tehan, a Democratic appointee.

Ringling, of Baraboo, has nominated Frederick Trowbridge of Green Bay to the post. He's backed by four of the state's GOP representatives, who said Trowbridge is their first choice.

Sen. McCarthy, the state's junior Republican, long ago recommended Urban Van Susteren of Appleton for the post, but said he would also be satisfied if the job went to Frank Van Cornellson of Green Bay.

Ringling, in backing Trowbridge for the post, said Wiley "has violated a senatorial prerogative by not getting us a judge."

Judgeship nominations are made by the President, subject to Senate approval. He usually follows Justice Department recommendations, which develop from senators, representatives and others with a voice in a state's patronage distribution.

Concerning Ringling, Wiley said he objected to the committee wiring his backing of Trowbridge to the Justice Department.

"That nomination is none of Ringling's business," Wiley told a newsman.

YOUR INCOME TAX — NO. 3

Joint Return Can Help You

By FRANK O'BRIEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whatever tax form you use, an early question to be answered, and one that can make a considerable difference in your tax bill, is whether you are filing a joint return, or filing separately.

If you are filing separately, you may be qualified to file as a "head of household."

There is something new in joint return provisions this year for many recent widows and widowers. The joint return, and the head of household return, are special tax law dispensations for married couples and for single persons who are supporting a household. If you qualify for one or the other, it will in nearly all cases be to your dollar and cents advantage to use the special tax status they provide.

The new tax law gave recent widows or widowers who meet certain conditions the privilege of figuring their tax as though they were filing a joint return.

Here are the joint return conditions, to be followed by a discussion of who qualifies as a head of a household, and what that means to you in terms of tax cutting:

The joint return— You may file a joint return using either form 1040A or form 1040, short or long.

The joint return is for married couples, and for widows or widowers whose spouse died during the last tax year (1954 in this case).

Filing jointly allows you to add together the income of both husband and wife, and then after giving effect to deductions and exemptions, divide the balance equally and find the tax on one half of the total. It is the possible shift to a lower tax rate which makes the difference—you do not pay tax on any less income.

Users of form 1040A do not add together the income of husband and wife. They put their incomes (if both had income) down separately. The district tax director does the income adding and splitting.

You may not file a joint return if:

1. Either the husband or wife was a nonresident alien at any time of the year.
2. When husband and wife have different tax years. One might pay taxes on the calendar year basis, while the other operated on a fiscal year, from March 1 to April 30, for instance. In that case, the couple must file separately.

3. If husband and wife became divorced or legally separated at any time in the year, up to and including Dec. 31.

If during 1954 you obtained a divorce decree in a state which issues a temporary, interlocutory decree that does not become final for some time afterwards, and the decree is not final until sometime in 1955, you should seek expert advice based on your state laws.

If you marry at any time during the tax year, up to and including Dec. 31, you and your spouse may file jointly for the entire year. Remember that both parties to a joint return must sign the return, even though only one had income.

If husband itemizes his personal deductions on a joint return, the wife's personal expenses must also be itemized. If husband and wife wish to handle their deductions differently, they must file separately.

If a husband or wife dies during the tax year, the survivor can file a joint return for that entire year (even if the death of the other took place on the first day of the year). The survivor can claim a full $600 exemption for the deceased, and take the deceased's deductions. The survivor, in other words, has full joint return privileges, for the year in which death occurred.

The new tax law stretches this provision, with some restrictions, for two years, in this way:

It allows a widow or widower to calculate his tax as though filing a joint return (all the privileges of a joint return, that is, except that no exemption is claimed for the deceased), for two years after the tax year in which death occurred, under the following conditions:

The survivor must not have remarried.
The survivor must maintain a household in which he supports a son, daughter, stepson or stepdaughter who is an exemption for the taxpayer.

And the survivor must have been able to file a joint return with the deceased in the year of death.

This means that:

1. A widow or widower whose spouse died in 1952 may, if he meets the restrictions of the new provision, calculate his 1954 tax as if it were a joint return. In the case of a death that broke up a marriage in 1953, the survivor who meets the restrictions may calculate his tax as if filing a joint return for both 1954 and 1955.

In case of death breaking up a marriage in 1954, the survivor may file an actual joint return for 1954, and for the years 1955 and 1956, if he meets the restrictions, may calculate his tax as though filing jointly.

After these years have run out, the widow and widower may join other single persons who qualify as a head of household. You are eligible as a head of household only if:

1. You are single (or legally separated) at the end of the tax year.

2. You have maintained a home, as your household, during the entire year (except for temporary absences, such as vacation trips), and this household must have been the principal home of

3. Any related person for whom you could claim an exemption (except in the case of a person being supported by more than one taxpayer — which is to be discussed in the next article of this series), or

4. Your home was the principal home of your unmarried child, stepchild or grandchild, even though not a dependent of yours. 5. You also qualify if you pay more than half the cost of maintaining a household (it need not be your home) as the home of your father or mother, and either qualifies as your dependent.

If you qualify as a head of household you will be directed, in line 6 of the tax computation box on page 3 of form 1040, to use tax rate schedule 2 (on page 14 of the instructions) in figuring your tax. You will see that the rates are lower than in tax rate schedule 1, on the same page.

Persons who wish to file as a surviving widow or widower (figuring their tax as though it were a joint return) and those wishing to file as a head of household may not use form 1040A.

(Next: Your exemptions.) Japanese, Chinese and Mexicans who eat U.S. diets average taller than those who live on the common diets of their homelands.

Costa Rican Government Troops Gain

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—Costa Rica's government and rebels swapped new progress claims today as inter-American observers moved toward the Nicaraguan frontier to take up watch against possible rebel reinforcements.

As the rebellion moved into its eighth day, these were the top developments:

1. The general staff announced that advanced government units battled rebel troops north of Santa Rosa in "hard" fighting yesterday afternoon and a spokesman declared: "We've got them on the run here." Santa Rosa is near the Inter-American Highway, about 40 miles from the northwestern frontier with Nicaragua. President Jose Figueres said he had heard the fighting stopped at sundown.

2. The rebel radio claimed its forces had been reinforced by 300 men in the La Cruz region, about 25 miles north of Santa Rosa. Neutral sources estimated at least 500 rebels were operating in the Northwest. The government force in the immediate area of Santa Rosa was put at about 275 men.

3. Fifteen observers representing the Organization of American States (OAS) prepared to watch the Nicaraguan-Costa Rican frontier for any rebel reinforcements or supplies crossing the border. The chairman of a five-nation OAS investigating commission warned the observers to stay out of rebel-controlled territory.

Costa Rica has accused neighboring Nicaragua of arming, training and supplying the insurgent forces, a charge denied by Nicaragua. The commission, which arrived in Managua, capital of Nicaragua, Monday after first visiting San Jose, was expected to return here later today. It found earlier that the rebels had received support from outside Costa Rica.

4. Another rebel broadcast said 200 rebel troops had landed in an amphibious operation near Limon, a Costa Rican port on the Caribbean, 70 miles east of San Jose. The Costa Rican government said it had no word of such a move and a telephone call to Limon yesterday brought word that the situation there was normal.

5. Despite previous estimates that it would take four to seven days to train Costa Rican pilots to operate the four F51 fighter planes delivered to the government Monday by the United States, an announcement said one of the warplanes was expected to go into action today. With the rebel air force reportedly down to one P-47 fighter, speedy checkout of the fighters would greatly aid government forces.

Use light cream in that white sauce, instead of milk, and add capers. Serve to company over a fish loaf or fillets.

A La Crosse Teacher, author and lecturer, Miss Maureen Applegate, will discuss "Anniversaries" at a ladies night banquet meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Hotel Winona Thursday. Held in observance of the 40th anniversary of the founding of Kiwanis International and the 35th year of the Winona club, the banquet will begin at 6:30 p.m. with former club members invited to attend. Miss Applegate at the present time is a critic teacher and an instructor in English in the teacher-training department of the Wisconsin State College at La Crosse and has served as an elementary teacher, principal and superintendent of schools. In charge of arrangements for the banquet program are Robert R. Reed and the Rev. Webster Clement, program chairman for January.

$69,000 Project Set at Lake City

Northern States Power Co. has scheduled a $69,000 project at Lake City, Minn.

Officials said that a replacement substation will be built there. They said, in releasing a list of projects throughout the area serviced by NSP, that although the construction is scheduled for 1955, some of the projects may be carried over to 1956 or 1957.

At Red Wing more than $280,000 will be invested—$200,000 for additional gas mains and replacement of present mains, $58,000 for installing 12,800-volt regulators at the steam plant and $20,000 for transmission equipment.

Total amount authorized is nearly $25,000,000. Of that amount nearly $3,300,000 is for Northern States of Wisconsin, which includes Lake City, Red Wing, Eau Claire and Winona as well as other communities.

Ty Cobbs Agree

RENO (AP)—The Ty Cobbs have settled their differences and will take an ocean voyage. Mrs. Frances C. Cobb, 45, yesterday withdrew the divorce suit she filed Jan. 7 against her 65-year-old husband, onetime baseball great. They were married in 1949 in Buffalo, N.Y.

Baptist Hunter Shoots $1,955 for Catholic Church

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A 71-year-old Baptist hunter literally shot $1,955 from the heavens but got nothing for his marksmanship. Instead, the money will be used by a Catholic priest to help build a new church.

The hunter, Forrest Wilson, was looking for rabbits last Saturday when he noticed a huge plastic balloon floating through the air toward him.

"Now, when you see something like that and you're carrying a shotgun, you're going to shoot it," he said. And he shot.

Inside the balloon was a certificate worth $1,955 to the finder's favorite charity, but Wilson didn't take the message seriously. He gave the paper to his granddaughter, Mrs. Marie Laffield, a member of St. Jerome's Catholic Church, now in the middle of a building program. Actually, the Rev. Jerome Moore is building the church himself with the aid of his congregation.

So Mrs. Laffield is donating the $1,955 to Father Moore.

"It's her certificate now," said her Baptist grandfather. "The Baptists can't blame me if she gives it to the Catholics."

Wilson said, however, it would be nice if he could just get some money out of it himself.

But the certificate doesn't work that way. It was the most valuable of 122 sent aloft throughout the country last week by General Mills Inc., to commemorate the anniversary of a company product.

The one captured near here had been aloft about 52 hours, a detail that didn't interest Wilson.

"I think I'll give up rabbit hunting," he said, "and start hunting balloons."

He didn't bag any rabbits Saturday anyway.

More Americans attended concerts than baseball games in 1952.

Matthew Marnach, Wife Celebrate 50th Anniversary

ALTURA, Minn. (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Marnach, Altura, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Jan. 9 at their home. More than 175 relatives and friends attended an open house in the afternoon and evening.

Mass at St. Aloysius Catholic Church was celebrated in their honor Jan. 9 at 10 a.m.

Mr. Marnach and Susanna Majerus were married at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Minneapolis, by the Rev. Casper Koegel Jan. 9, 1905. Their attendants were Miss Virginia Preston and John Peshon. They farmed continuously on the same farm which is still their present home.

They are the parents of one daughter, Florence, at home and two sons, Ernest and Nicholas, who live on nearby farms.

Mrs. Marnach wore a dress of royal purple and a shoulder corsage of yellow roses and carnations tied with gold ribbon.

An anniversary cake centered the serving table. Mrs. Michael Majerus cut the cake and Miss Marjory Majerus poured. Others assisting were Mrs. Earl Larson, Mrs. Edward Reisdorf, Mrs. Lawrence Kreckow, the Misses Constance and Eileen Heaser and Miss Rosemary Majerus. Miss Beverly Majerus was in charge of the guest book.

The couple received a bouquet of yellow roses from the Whitewater town board of which Mr. Marnach is chairman. A white linen table cloth and napkins, a gift of their sons, was used on the serving table. Other gifts included a table lamp from their daughter and a potted plant from Mr. and Mrs. Earl Larson and family. Cards and monetary gifts were received.

An anniversary dinner was held Jan. 2 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Marnach. The linen used on the table was an heirloom possession of Mrs. Ernest Marnach. It was her mother's wedding gift, given to her by her grandmother. Mrs. Lawrence Kreckow and Mrs. Lester Kruger served. The home was decorated with gold streamers and yellow roses.

Mr. Marnach was 75 Jan. 13 and Mrs. Marnach is 73.

BATTLE KROC-A-DIALS

Looks rather exciting above—that is, for a woman's page—although of course it might be a new gourmet delicacy, crocodile steak or what have you. Actually all the above fearsome-looking creatures traced their origin to the dough pan and the oven, and the rolling pins with which they are being threatened were already used on them. The three bakers, one of whom is a Winonan, fashioned these inmates of the bakery shelf rather than of a stream in the tropics, at Newton's Holland's bakery in Rochester, New York also a former Winonan—once lived on the northeast corner of Sixth and Center streets.

The Winona baker on the Holland staff is Herbert Bloedow, at the right above. He and his fellow workers also make a pig (for the centerpiece) and piglets (for each place) as unique conversational decorations on a party dinner table, fish and other inhabitants of land, sky and water out of bread dough. Orders come in from all over the country for these dough masterpieces. More than 100 of the Kroc-a-Dials above were sent out by one firm to its advertising agencies in the East.

While on foods, don't believe I have ever told about the international dinner given for newspaper food editors last fall, the dinner featuring the favorite foods of six different world areas. The dinner began with a reception at which American appetizers were served from a tremendous hollow, oval table which allowed the waiters to serve from within an array of whole smoked turkey, Nova Scotia salmon, Gulf shrimp, Oysters Rockefeller and numerous other typically American specialties. During the reception, the guests received miniature table decorations which later indicated their places at the elaborately decorated dinner tables in an adjoining room.

Tiny wooden birds, for example, duplicated those on the festive Scandinavian tables and multi-colored straw fruit clusters matched those on the colorful Latin American tables. Similarly, little paper fans indicated the Oriental table; ivory camels, the Middle Eastern tables, and miniature elephant bells, the East Indian tables.

Five foreign menus in all were served simultaneously to the different groups and each of the menus was presented as authentically as possible under the guidance of Eileen Gaden, associate editor of Gourmet, who painstakingly selected table coverings, dishes, glassware and other accessories in keeping with the various menu themes. The menus were served with ceremony for the benefit of everyone in the room so that the service could be followed in the dinner programs which listed the menus in English as well as the foreign languages.

The Shish Kebab (skewered lamb) of the Middle Eastern menu was brought in flaming on long thin swords, the three curry condiments for the East Indian menu were passed by Indian boys attired in native dress, the Paella (a spicy combination of rice and seafood) was served from huge Mexican casseroles, the oriental food was served with chopsticks and the roast goose appeared in true Scandinavian style with a colorful garnish of whole prunes and rosy apple slices.

Robert F. Murphy, director of information for the United States Brewers Foundation, host at the dinner at the Ambassador in New York City, explained the versatility of that hotel's international kitchen staff that mentioned one major omission—an Oriental chef. For the dinner, Sou Chan, whose famous House of Chan in New York, is known from coast-to-coast for its delicious Oriental food, took over the entire responsibility of the Oriental menu—even to the extent of providing chopsticks and made-to-order "fortune cookies" for the guests.

Other international aspects included the Latin American dessert flown from Cuba which consisted of coconut ice cream in halved coconut shells, the foreign breads baked to order in various foreign sections of New York, the table accessories collected from all corners of the world and the entertainers who were secured by Maurice La Pue who had just returned from Paris where he arranged the program for the fall Dior fashion showing. The artichokes for the Middle Eastern menu and the pomegranates for the Latin American menu were flown from California for the occasion and were the first of the season in New York. Continental music by a string trio and coffee and refreshments in the reception room concluded the dinner. —May Murray

Keep in Trim

Exercise Helps Take Up Slack, Banishes Fat

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Fat has an untidy habit of spreading — waist, abdomen and hips. Soft muscles invite fat, toned muscles rebuff it. This streamlining technique builds beauty plus strength. Today's letter from a reducer who exercised while dieting will spur you on.

"I'm so happy now that I've lost 50 pounds of excess fat and can wear clothes with shape and fashion. I have you and my doctor to thank for this... his diet and your slimming exercises. I was able to take off 50 pounds without that sagging, flabby look. As I took off the weight, I firmed the tissues at the same time. Tell your reducers that a small amount of daily exercise can help them slim down and shape up in the right places."

Here are easy exercises to restore tone to flabby muscles.

Position: Lying face down on floor, head resting on folded arms. Legs stretched straight down.

Movement: Kneeping knee straight, raise right leg about half way up... hold. Hold to a slow count of 10. Repeat with left leg.

Position: Lie on left side, head on folded arm, legs straight down. Movement: Flex right knee briskly toward chest; shoot leg straight down; then swing vigorously rearward. Do this to a rhythmic count of 1-2-swing—h-o-l-d. Repeat twice, making sure to hold on to the back swing. Change sides and repeat twice.

Finish with a stretch-bend to whittle waist and midriff.

Position: Sitting on floor, legs spread wide apart, arms arched overhead. Pull up-and-in firmly with middle muscles.

Movement: Bend smoothly side-ward and hold this elongated stretch. Do this to the rhythmic count — stretch, bend, p-u-l-l. H-o-l-d. Stretch up again, pull slim and bend to the opposite direction.

No. 3 Man in Italian Red Party Demoted

ROME (AP)—Directors of Italy's Communist party have handed their No. 3 man Pietro Secchia a drastic demotion in a move bolstering the power of party chief Palmiro Togliatti.

The directors at a meeting yesterday ousted Secchia from his jobs as one of the two party vice secretaries and membership on the seven-man party secretariat. He was named regional secretary for Lombardy, Italy's most heavily industrialized region.

Some political observers predicted Secchia might not accept the demotion.

At the same time the directors confirmed Togliatti as the party secretary general and Luigi Longo as the only remaining vice secretary.

Secchia, 52-year-old senator and wartime partisan leader, has been considered the No. 1 challenger to Togliatti's postwar leadership.

Unlicensed Car Drivers Facing Immediate Arrest

Winona motorists were warned today that arrests will be made of owners of motor vehicles not equipped with 1955 Minnesota license plates.

Under state law the new plates were to have been attached to all vehicles by Jan. 1 but enforcement was deferred until delivery had been completed of all plates ordered before the first of the year. Announcement was made earlier this week that all plates ordered have not been delivered and Chief of Police A. J. Bingold, Sheriff George Fort and the Minnesota Highway Patrol said today that owners of cars being driven without the new plates will now be arrested.

Possible Arson Attempt Revealed At Venables Garage

A possible attempt at arson was being investigated by police here today.

The matter came to the attention of police at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday when a pedestrian hailed a police squad car and told patrolmen that he noticed a candle burning at the West 2nd street entrance of the C. Paul Venables garage.

Police who investigated found the small candle placed against the wooden door of the building and, still burning, the candle had charred a small portion of the door.

NEW TAXES

cent to 16 per cent, 8 million dollars; modify labor credits provision of iron ore occupational tax, $750,000. He said evidence that iron ore can bear a substantial tax increase is "conclusive."

Adjust deductions and increase rates in inheritance and gift taxes, one million dollars.

Apply two per cent insurance gross premiums tax also to annuities, $800,000.

Increase the beer tax 50 cents a barrel for 3.2 beer and 75 cents a barrel for strong beer, $2,100,000, "less than one-fifth of a cent a bottle." He said Minnesota beer taxes are among the lowest in the nation.

Tax tobacco products not now taxed at 20 per cent of the retail price, two million dollars.

Increase from 4 to 7 per cent the gross earnings tax on telephone companies in cities of less than 10,000, $1,500,000.

Gov. Freeman said this would balance the budget and leave a "cushion" of $1,087,000.

Among appropriations recommended by the governor are $81,306,531.43 for institutions and public welfare, $39,767,300 for the University of Minnesota, and $8,435,303.39 for teachers colleges.

Two years ago the institutions and welfare appropriations totaled $77,149,783.01 and requests for the coming biennium amounted to $82,116,100.45. The university asked $41,273,894 compared with current appropriations of $35,416,717.02. And the teachers colleges asked $8,589,227.10 compared with allowances for this two years of $5,956,382.

Turning to the income tax school fund, the governor suggested three moves to obtain the money needed to increase basic aid from $80 to $90 per pupil unit. Allowing for cancellations, he said $19,853,000 more than is now in sight would be needed.

Shifting to the withholding method of collecting income taxes next July 1, he said, would produce 25 million dollars. This would not be additional tax, but the money would be available sooner than under the present method of collection.

He said another four million dollars could be brought in earlier by requiring corporations to pay their second installment three months, instead of six months, after the first. And tightening the corporate income tax structure, by limiting deductions for corporations and eliminating the $500 corporation exemption and property payroll credit, would produce another two million.

Changes Explained. These changes would make available a total of 31 million dollars. Deducting the five million dollars it would cost to increase individual exemptions would leave 26 million dollars.

Freeman said this would be enough to pay school aids at the $22 level and leave a balance in the income tax at the end of the biennium of $6,147,000.

Looking to the future of the income tax school fund, the governor said there would be a gap of 50 million dollars between income tax collections and state aid payments at the end of the 1957-59 biennium.

To close the gap, he proposed a constitutional amendment to permit current use for education purposes of the 50 per cent of the iron ore occupation tax that now goes into the trust funds. He said this could mean an additional 16 million dollars over a two-year period for schools and four million dollars for the university.

He also urged consideration of eliminating federal income tax payments as a deduction in computing state income tax. Over a two-year period this could yield about 25 million dollars more from corporations and 30 to 45 millions from individuals.

As part of a move to improve Minnesota's competitive position in attracting new business, the governor recommended reducing classification rate for personal property tax purposes on manufacturers' tools and equipment from 33 1/3 per cent to 20 per cent and on manufacturers' inventories to 10 per cent over a three-year period.

He said business generally regards the personal property tax as the most onerous.

He also urged immediate adoption of the optional inventory system for manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers. This would give them the choice of having their personal property assessed on a given date or on an average basis.

Repeating his recommendation that municipalities be given power to levy new taxes, he also proposed an increase from 7 to 8 per cent in the gross earnings tax on telephone companies in cities of more than 10,000, the additional income to go to local governments in those cities.

Freeman recommended that all state employees be brought under Social Security. He estimated the two per cent social security contribution of the state would require $2,780,000 for the biennium, of which $1,850,000 would come from the general revenue fund. He said he hoped it would be possible to absorb this with the "cushion" in his proposed budget.

He also described again his plan to create a Governor's Tax Study Commission, including representatives of business, agriculture, labor, the Legislature and professional groups to examine the competitive effect of different taxes on Minnesota's business, industry and agriculture.

Eyota Man Jailed For Contributing To Delinquency

LA CROSSE, Wis.—Raymond Curran, 22, Eyota, drew a 10-day sentence in the county jail this morning after pleading guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of two teenage boys who accompanied him on a trip to La Crosse in a car taken Tuesday morning from a used car lot in Rochester.

Curran was arrested by La Crosse police after they received information Tuesday afternoon that he failed to return a car he had taken earlier in the day from the Midway-Lincoln Garage used car lot in Rochester.

Garage officials said that Curran asked to take the car for a trial ride at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday and when he failed to return at 5:32 p.m. Winona police were notified of the missing car.

Winona relayed the radio transmitted by La Crosse and at 6:45 p.m. La Crosse police reported that Curran and two companions were in custody and the car was being held.

La Crosse police said that questioning of the trio revealed that they had purchased a bottle of whisky there and had drunk most of it.

Curran's two companions, Richard Staloch, 18, and John McMahon, 17, both of Eyota, are being held without charge at La Crosse pending the possible filing of charges against the pair at Rochester.

Historical Group Honors Old Settlers At YMCA Meeting

About 80 persons attended a program honoring the Winona County Old Settlers Association during the Tuesday night meeting of the Winona County Historical Society at the YMCA. Mrs. M. L. Spencer Sr. was in charge of the program. Her narrative of the "Down Memory Lane" theme included several special illustrations of early Winona County history, among them five dance numbers by the YMCA Whirlers.

The narrative later included a songfest with Miss Carl Werner singing a medley of Stephen Foster songs. Miss Georgia Garlid was the accompanist.

One of the highlights of the narrative was mention of the work of Mrs. Thomas (Isabelle Margaret) Simpson, whose husband was once a president of the old settlers association. The present Margaret Simpson Home, a charitable organization to assist the needy, was named in her honor.

The program ended with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," followed by a social hour. Hostesses were Mrs. Harry Busdicker, Mrs. Frank Sheehan Sr., Miss Leona McGill and Miss Edna Nelson.

Dr. Lewis I. Younger, president of the historical society, presided at a brief business meeting that preceded the program.

The request to the state commissioner is for technical aid, a local source said.

DISTRICT COURT

would cause doubt to exist as to a detergent being a cause since both hands were exposed equally to the detergent.

Dr. Sevenants replied that even though both hands were exposed a person might develop the dermatitis only on one hand.

Dr. Lynch testified on the basis of an examination of Mrs. Miller made by him last July 22 and said that it was his conclusion that she is suffering from an atopic or neuro dermatitis.

He explained that atopic was defined as a form of allergy.

"Do you have an opinion as to whether or not the use of Tide was a factor in her condition?" Rich asked.

"I do not think it was a major factor in the production of the eruption," Dr. Lynch said. "It might have been a contributing factor just as might have many other substances she handled."

Referring to several "patch tests" made by Dr. Sevenants to measure the reaction of Mrs. Miller's skin to certain substances, Rich asked whether the results of these tests altered in any way Dr. Lynch's diagnosis of the plaintiff's condition.

He said that they did not because, first, of the difficulty in interpreting such tests and also because the results he saw "indicated a polyvalent sensitivity. In other words that her skin was sensitive, in the layman's sense of the word, rather than a true allergy."

Dr. Lynch said that "if Tide had anything to do with her condition it was a general irritation of a mild degree rather than a specific cause. I'd say that any irritation of Tide would be equalled by other detergents or household exposures."

Dr. Lynch was asked whether there was any significance in the fact that only Mrs. Miller's left hand was seriously affected.

"I could accept the fact that it began on the left hand but would think that if the condition was a contact dermatitis it should have spread to the other hand much earlier."

Murnane asked how long Dr. Lynch's examination of Mrs. Miller lasted and he said about 15 minutes.

"Isn't it a recognized fact that dermatitis can be caused by the use of household detergents?" Murnane asked.

"It has been claimed but I'm not convinced of the claim," Dr. Lynch replied.

"Water alone can cause a dermatitis," he continued, "as can water with soap or water with a detergent."

Murnane referred to several articles written in various medical journals on the subject and mentioned the title of one, "Dermatitis of the Hands Due to Household Detergents."

Dr. Lynch said that he had read the article but disagreed with the conclusions.

"Aren't there outstanding dermatologists writing daily on the effect of detergents on the hands?" Murnane questioned.

"I'd question the use of the word daily," Dr. Lynch replied, "and also the word outstanding. They may be all competent dermatologists."

Citizens Group At La Crescent May Back Vetsch

LA CRESCENT, Minn. — The end of a fight for a citizens court appeal will be announced at a public meeting in the city hall at 7 p.m. today.

After a meeting with Clarence Vetsch, former La Crescent constable who lost the Houston County sheriff election by a decision of the county District Court Jan. 8, and his attorney, Milton Kludt, here Tuesday night, members of the citizens committee executive board decided to swing their funds behind a Vetsch appeal of the decision and to call off a separate or joint appeal.

Dallas Ames, publicity chairman of the committee, announced that tonight's meeting for the public will be held to explain the decision and to place the matter of finances for Vetsch before villagers.

"What money we have collected will go to back Vetsch if the people say so," Ames said. "The citizens committee is 100 per cent behind him and will not make this a political fight, but rather one of donations to support his appeal. Vetsch will have the entire say so about additional attorneys and it will be his fight," Ames continued.

Funds are still needed and may be sent to Box 339, La Crescent, he said. A house-to-house canvass will be continued.

At last night's meeting, called by the citizens executive board, there was some discussion about positions of the committee and the defeated sheriff candidate and the possibility of hiring additional legal counsel to push the issue into a higher court. The upshot of the meeting was the decision by the citizens group to drop a private or joint appeal and to support a Vetsch fight in the upper courts.

A transcript of testimony in District Court Dec. 30-31 probably will be completed late this week so that attorneys may study it prior to filing an appeal. An extension of time of judgment, set for Jan. 22, is expected to be asked between now and Saturday. At noon today, no move had been made.

When Judge Karl Finkelnburg, Winona, ruled that the La Crescent general election vote for sheriff was invalid, it touched off a heated opposition here and the citizens committee was an outgrowth. Legal advice was sought by the village council and when it was learned that the village as such had no right of appeal, weight was swung behind the citizens committee. It has been conducting a drive for funds to support an appeal.

Fatal Accident Driver Fined

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Lemone Nelson, Independence, Tuesday afternoon entered a plea of guilty to charges of failing to operate his truck on the right half of the roadway and driving at a speed greater than reasonable under existing conditions, in connection with a fatal accident Dec. 24, 1954 near Independence.

He paid a $25 fine and $6.95 costs on each of the counts. Killed in the accident, that occurred on Highway 93 three miles north of Independence, was Albert D. Marsolek, 65, Independence. A coroner's jury Friday found that Marsolek's death was not the result of wanton negligence or wilful intent on the part of anyone involved in the accident, but ruled that the death resulted from the negligent operation of the truck by Nelson.

The defendant was represented in court by Atty. Burr Tarrant, Whitehall. Dist. Atty. John C. Quinn prosecuted.

Words of Child Save Defendant
COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The words of a child may have saved a man from a penitentiary sentence.

Rancy Hull, 55, of Covington, was being tried on a charge of breaking into a dwelling with intent to steal. Mrs. Emma Lou Ryan charged he broke into her house while she was out shopping.

Judge Joseph F. Goodenough explained it had to be proved, under Kentucky law, that Hull forced his way into the house.

Mrs. Ryan said Hull had opened a screen door. Her 4-year-old son Timmy, home at the time of the incident, was brought into the courtroom to tell what he saw.

Before Timmy was sworn in, he piped up:

"I let him in. I opened the door."

Goodenough dismissed the charge against Hull.

Customer Calls Tune in Colors On New Autos

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The customer is calling the tune today—or, rather, naming the colors. You can see that plainly enough at General Motors' Motorama, which opened today at the Waldorf Astoria.

Giving the customer his choice of color combinations for his new car isn't a production manager's idea exactly, GM officials admit. It causes plenty of trouble and added effort at the factory.

But it's what the 1955 auto buyer wants. And it's what the auto industry—in this, its fiercest competitive year—feels forced to provide.

Not that GM has any monopoly on the rainbow. Walk a few blocks south of GM's big show and you'll see another big splash of color at the Chrysler International Auto Salon. Ford and all the independent ones are offering a similar wide range of color choice to lure the customer.

And letting the customer mix his colors isn't exactly an idea that auto dealers would think up either. If they didn't feel the breath of competition, turn a man and his wife loose in a dealer's show room to pick color combinations and listen to the arguments, the indecision, the changing of minds—far, into next week probably.

Auto assembly lines get a little more complicated in this new age of color. It takes careful planning. GM officials point out, to see that when a yellow body rolls down the line it isn't met at the strategic point by a pink fender, or by an unwanted shade of seat upholstery.

And what happens if a man and his wife pick out a pretty far-fetched color combination? Officials say every car is taken to head this off. Dealers have charts of recommended combinations, which the company's designers think in the best taste, and which the assembly lines are set up to provide with reasonable dispatch.

If the customer should insist on something different from the wide choice of combinations offered him, well, in this year of competition, he probably could get it. He'd have to wait while, however, until the factory could provide it. And there would probably be an extra charge for the trouble.

Woman Dies After 4 Days in Wreck Of Light Plane

ST. JOHN'S, Ariz. (AP)—A young woman who lay for four days paralyzed from the waist down in the snow-covered wreckage of a light plane died en route to a hospital early today.

There was still a spark of life left in the snow-covered wreckage of the plane, which crashed in the snow-covered hills near Melton, Tomlinson, 22, of Denver, Sheriff Erant Hamblin, of St. John's, said. She was found a few hours after William C. Wilson, 33, also of Denver, staggered on frost-bitten feet to an Arizona ranch and said his secretary, Miss Tomlinson, was paralyzed and near death in their wrecked plane.

A party headed by Sheriff Hamblin and Arizona Patrolman R.E. Pannell found the young woman lying in the snow beside the Stinson Voyager shortly after midnight.

Wilson said his secretary had been on a flight from Santa Fe, N.M., to Winslow, Ariz.

She was taken through the rough country along the New Mexico-Arizona line to a ranch where Wilson had gone for help. A waiting ambulance rushed her to St. John's but she died on the way.

Wilson, resting in a St. John's hospital, said there had been in the plane since it stalled and crashed in a "flat area between mountains" of the New Mexico side of the line. He said both had been knocked out when the plane struck the ground.

"We had only two blankets," he said, "I tried to make her comfortable."

Wilson said he had torn the plane's fabric to try to keep warm. He said they had no matches, food or water. They spent three days in the plane before he started for help yesterday morning.

The area—wild, rugged country—is covered with about 12 inches of snow. The CAA said the temperature was about 3 below zero.

Wilson, an attorney, is not considered in serious condition.

Besides building the first airplane, the Wright brothers built a calculating machine, a home telephone, a typewriter, balloon tires, a printing press and many bicycle models.

Pipestone Girl Dead in Crash

PIPESTONE, Minn. (AP)—Carol Laackman, 9, died in a hospital here Tuesday, the victim of a car-truck collision that seriously injured her father and sister.

Neil Roberts, Rock County sheriff, said Laackman's car was on a rural road when it collided with a milk truck at an intersection six miles south of Jasper.

Herman Laackman, 50, Sherman, S.D., and his daughter, Shirley, 6, were reported still in semiconscious condition. William Ball, Sioux Falls, S.D., the truck driver, escaped unhurt in the crash at 9 a.m. Sunday morning.

The death carried Minnesota's toll for the year to 41 compared with 36 on this date of 1954.

Senator Asks Explanation of Peress Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) said today the Army should make an "understandable, forthright" explanation of its handling of the Peress case.

As he said, Jackson told newsman, the Army has not done so and is faced with the prospect of "coming in to explain why it didn't tell the whole story in the first place."

Jackson is a member of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee, which has indicated it will call on Pentagon officials shortly in a new study of the promotion to major and honorable discharge of Irving Peress, an Army dentist. Peress, invoking the Fifth Amendment, had refused to answer questions concerning Communist contacts.

The Army has conceded the matter was badly handled. In a recent report, the Pentagon said Army Counselor John G. Adams and Lt. Gen. Walter L. Weible, a deputy Army chief of staff, were responsible for the final decision to give Peress an honorable discharge in the face of a demand from Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) that he be court-martialed. The Army listed 60 persons as having played various roles in handling the Peress case.

Noting that was twice the number listed by the Army last spring during the McCarthy-Army hearings, Jackson said the Army should explain the differences between the first and second lists.

"Their responsibility now is to summarize it so it is understandable, forthright, and as brief as possible but will still properly explain just what took place," Jackson said.

Presbyterian Merger Plans Turned Down

ATLANTA (AP)—Southern Presbyterians have defeated a plan to merge the three branches of the Presbyterian Church into the Presbyterian Church of the United States.

The Southern started the present move 17 years ago after considerable debate and then finally voted against it yesterday.

Church leaders generally were disappointed but remaining firm in the conviction that union of the three branches with a membership of 3 1/2 million was inevitable in the next few years.

Yesterday 23 Southern presbyteries (districts) voted on the suggestion to end the split which originally developed over the slavery question in 1861. The results: 14 against, 7 for, 2 still to be heard from.

Twelve negative and four positive votes had been cast in earlier balloting.

The 26 negative votes were more than enough to kill the plan. Only 22 were needed, as approval of three-fourths of the 86 presbyteries was required for acceptance. However, voting will continue into April.

Approval would have united the 757,000 member Presbyterian Church (largely Midwestern).

Top governing bodies of all three branches, called the general assemblies, approved the merger last year and the voting was on ratification by the regional presbyteries.

Northern presbyteries have been coming out solidly for the union, with endorsement already received from 45 of the 256 districts. Each presbytery is made up of the pastor and one elder from each congregation in the district. The elders have equal voice with pastors in the regional votes on ratification.

The pro-union Presbyterian Outlook, published at Richmond, Va., said in an editorial that "it is recognized that the ministers of the church are largely in favor of union. It is also recognized that it is the elders who have caused the present postponement."

Other reasons cited for Southern opposition included a belief by some members that the Northern church was too "liberal" in some portions of its theology and the feeling that the smaller Southern church might be "swallowed up" and dominated by the larger church.

New Land Reform Move in Viet Nam

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—The South Viet Nam government has launched its new land reform program, the weapon it is counting on most to save the country from the Communist-led Vietminh.

Premier Ngo Dinh Diem fixed rents at no less than 15 per cent of the principal annual crop and no more than 25 per cent. Previously they ranged from 40 to 75 per cent. Written contracts between tenants and farm owners are also required in place of verbal agreements.

The contracts will be for a minimum of five years, renewable for another five. If the tenant keeps up payments for 10 years, he acquires ownership of the land.

Fishing Comfort

Fishing necessarily need not be uncomfortable in suzero weather. It can be pleasant, restful and a weekend luxury as the Fred Pruter family, Lake City, will readily testify. And Marvin, holding the fish in the above picture, will add, productively.

Taken a week ago on Lake Pepin, just off the tourist park, the picture shows the family resting after dinner on the ice in their rather complete fish house. It is equipped with a cook stove, kitchen table, comfortable chairs, covered floor and large windows through which the tip-ups out on the ice can be observed in almost the comforts of home.

Fred drives his car out on the ice, park it near his fishing shack so that the food can be carried in to be prepared on the wood-burning stove. There are hooks for nearly everything that might be needed during the fishing season, even Mrs. Pruter's handbag. The tackle is placed and the family settles down for a restful day.

Unique Publication

One of the unusual outdoor publications that we have examined for some time was presented to us, Tuesday at Chatfield when we called on Merlin E. Matzke, editor of the Chatfield News.

Merlin dug out from under his desk the December issue of the Sportsman's Trading Post, the paper with the free want ads. In fact, its full eight pages are devoted to ads of interest to sportsmen.

Merlin started the publication five months ago to advertise some sporting equipment. He advertised that all paid subscribers could place in the paper a 25 word ad free every month their subscriptions were paid. Subscriptions and ads came pouring in until the ten pages became crowded with gun, dog, boats, pets, hunting and fishing ads. All very fascinating reading.

Tree Taste

Wisconsin forestry division that is making 25 million trees available for planting during the coming spring is wondering why jack pines are no longer popular. In fact, the division is having difficulty getting rid of its supply of such trees. Everybody now wants Norway pine instead.

Jack pine, a spokesman states, was formerly favored as the tree to plant on poor soils but now it is believed that Norway pine will do well on much of such lands as it is a much more popular tree. The Norway pine has become popular as a Christmas tree opening an early market for plantation thinnings.

It takes five years to readjust a tree planting program at a nursery, the foresters point out, and the big question is "What are we going to do with all these jack pines?"

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and his friend, Pat, the grocery store goat, were getting ready to camp out for the night. The rabbit gentleman's snow boat, named Jack Frost, had become stuck in a deep drift. So the captain and the crew—the crew being Mr. Butter—were getting ready to spend the night aboard the boat.

Then Mr. Butter heard a noise and he whispered: "Listen, Cap'n Wiggily, sir!" "I am listening," answered the rabbit gentleman.

"Don't you hear something?" the goat wanted to know. "I hear the wind blowing," was the answer. "But I wish the wind would blow the other way."

"Why, Cap'n Wiggily, sir?" "So it could blow us out of this snow drift where we are stuck fast. But with the wind blowing the same way it was blowing, when it blew us into this drift, we shall only go in deeper. But maybe the wind will change in the night. Then it will blow us back to my hollow stump bungalow. I am sorry I got you into this trouble, Pat."

"Oh, I don't believe it will be much trouble, Cap'n Wiggily, sir. It is a sort of jolly adventure. Aunt Lettie may be so busy tending the grocery store that she may not worry about me."

"I am glad about that, Pat. I think Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy will worry if I am not back for supper. She may call Chief, the police dog, and a rescue party may come and dig us out."

"Well, let's hope so. But, anyhow, I am glad that noise was only the wind blowing."

"Yes, Pat, that's all it was. Just the wind."

"I'm glad to know that," bleated the goat. "Are you going to leave the sail up all night?"

"Yes, Pat. I am. In the night the wind may change and blow us out of where we are stuck in this snow drift, just as it blew us into it. I shall leave the sail up all night."

"Just as you say, Cap'n Wiggily, sir. Now if you will, as you call it, 'break out' the things to eat, I will light the gasoline stove and warm up our cabin. It is getting colder and darker. Have you any way of lighting the cabin, Cap'n Wiggily, sir?"

"I have some flash lights, but if we leave them turned on too long the batteries will run down. But I brought some candles. We can light those. You can do that after you light the stove. I will break out the things we are going to eat."

The two friends were kept busy, snug and warm in the cabin of the Jack Frost, which was the name of Uncle Wiggily's snow boat. There were two bunks, or beds, where they could sleep after supper. The wind kept on blowing the same way, so there was no hope, until morning, that the wind would change and blow the snow boat out of the deep drift where it was stuck fast.

But before morning a rescue party may come for us," said Uncle Wiggily, hoping like a rabbit.

How would the rescue party know where to look for us?" asked the goat gentleman.

"I think my boat made enough of a trail in the snow for Chief the police dog to follow," said Uncle Wiggily. "We may be rescued before morning, Pat."

"Well, I am not going to worry about that," bleated the goat. "We are warm and comfortable in this little cabin. We have enough to eat and bunk to sleep in."

"We shall turn in, Pat, and go to sleep as soon as we have eaten," said the rabbit. "I shall leave a candle burning all night, so if the rescue party comes it will see the light."

In a short time, after having eaten, Uncle Wiggily and the goat went to sleep in the cabin bunk beds. But, after a while, the goat suddenly awakened and exclaimed:

"Get up, Cap'n Wiggily, sir! Get up! I hear sniffs and snuffs!"

Something is going to happen. You shall hear about it tomorrow if the rocking horse doesn't run away with the gold fish bowl so the pussy cat has no place to sleep after coming home from the puppy dog's birthday party.

Better Furniture Business Forecast

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York winter furniture market approached the holiday market today with many exhibitors forecasting better business in 1955—and a possible rise in prices.

"For some time now, manufacturers have been absorbing increasingly higher costs of production," commented Hal Meadoff, president of White Furniture Co., Mebane, N.C. "If this keeps up, it will have to be reflected sooner or later at the retail level."

Showrooms at the week-long exhibit burst with talk of price increases. One major manufacturer was rumored to have made an across-the-board increase of 3 per cent. Some exhibitors said they were holding the line now, but might be "forced" to boost prices later.

Daniel C. Field, sales supervisor of the Englander Co. of Chicago, major manufacturer of mattresses, beds and sofas, said furniture makers have already trimmed prices as much as they can.

"If the haven't actually reduced prices, they're giving more value for the same price," he explained. "Costs are still going up, and it's going to be tough to cut prices any more. Prices have leveled off pretty well by now and I think the next move will be up, not down."

Galesville Building Realty Firm Re-elects

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special)—Stockholders of the Galesville Building and Realty Co., meeting in their 43rd annual session Monday evening, heard reports of a successful year and re-elected all officers.

Only major improvement in the company's holdings was the work done in the drug store operated since last summer by Hilton Moran, who came here from La-Grange, Ill., to occupy the store formerly operated by Emil Francar. The part of the building used by the drug store was completely overhauled, including a new floor.

Forrest Uhl was re-elected president of the company, and others continuing are Emile Francar, vice president; Mrs. Doline Uhl, secretary-treasurer, and J. L. Sports and Dr. M. J. Senty, directors.

New Forest Crop Plan Started in Trempealeau Co.

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Public hearings were held at the courthouse Tuesday on the applications of Paul H. Johnson and Mrs. G. Hilmer Johnson, Osseo, and Ralph Thompson, Whitehall, for placing 40-acre tracts under the forest crop law.

E. W. Erdlitz, state forest crop supervisor with the Wisconsin Conservation Department, Madison, presided.

There was no opposition and if the plan is approved by the Conservation Commission at its meeting the second week in February, the farmers will have until March 20 to complete the process of coming under the 1927 law.

First in County
Eric P. Jensen, district forester, said these plots, if approved, will be the first lands in Trempealeau County to come under this law.

Land owners with such districts, who otherwise meet the requirements of the law with 40 or more acres of wooded land, will pay only 20 cents per acre per year tax on such land. The owner enters into a 5-year contract with the state. Wooded property, to be eligible for tax classification as forest crop land, must ordinarily have a reasonable assurance of developing a stand of market timber within a reasonable time. To qualify, it must also be held permanently for growing of timber rather than for agricultural, mineral, recreational or other purposes.

The property must be open to the public for the purposes of hunting and fishing, but its use for pasture is not permitted. The timber also must be cut, but cutting in excess is limited by conservation department rulings. Lands upon petition of the owner. When the owner voluntarily withdraws his land the withdrawal payment is the difference between all property taxes that would ordinarily have been levied had the land not been subject to the law, and all forest crop taxes and severance taxes actually paid. Simple interest is computed at 5 per cent on both sides.

Woodland Tax Law
Jensen said that over 1,000 acres in Trempealeau County were placed under the woodland tax law which was enacted in 1953, effective Jan. 1, 1954. There are only about 7,000 acres in the entire state of Wisconsin coming under this law. This is a new law canceling out the old woodlot tax exemption law. It is similar to the forest crop law in that taxes are limited to 20 cents per acre per year, but only a 10-year contract with the commission is required.

Erdlitz said there are about 280,000 acres of privately owned woodlands in the state, and over 2,165,000 acres of county-owned lands under the law. Counties coming under the law receive 10 cents an acre per year for maintenance and operation of these forests but must return to the state one-half of the proceeds from the sale of the timber taken off such lands.

Appearing at the hearing for the Johnsons were James Steen, chairman of the Town of Hale, and Reuben Gunderson, assessor. There were no appearances at the Thompson hearing.

Helicopters Drop Food In Snow-Bound Britain

Freezing Weather Checks Floods in Western Germany

LONDON (AP)—Britain mobilized a fleet of some 30 helicopters and planes today to drop food and medicines in frozen northern Scotland.

The 13,000-ton British aircraft carrier Glory steamed toward northern Scotland to act as a floating base for helicopters engaged in rescue missions over the snow-bound counties of Caithness and Sutherland.

The Royal Air Force ordered more than 20 planes to a relief base at Kinloss.

More than 10,000 persons in Caithness and Sutherland were cut off by 20-foot snowdrifts and fallen telephone lines. Radio broadcasts advised them to make an "F" on the snow if they needed food, or a "D" if a doctor was required.

Another blizzard interrupted rescue operations late yesterday. Freezing weather early today put some check on flooding in the Mosel and Rhine rivers of Western Germany. At Bonn, the West German capital, the flood crest on the Rhine was still to come out, the basement of the Federal Parliament Building was full of water. Workers ringed the structure with 40,000 sandbags to head off the rising river.

At Mehlern, near Bonn, the U.S. High Commission was flooded out of its headquarters, where 2,000 Germans and 450 Americans are employed.

In France, the flooding Garonne neared the danger mark and there was fear that the dam at Toury, on the Eure River, would burst. More than 3,700 persons were evacuated from low-lying areas in the Rhone Valley.

Winds ranging up to 60 miles an hour lashed Italy's Ligurian coast, smashing summer cottages, uprooting trees and driving huge waves across coastal roads.

Mountainous waves continued to lash the sea, keeping the damaged Greek ship Corinthia from reaching port. The 3,879-ton vessel rammed a reef midway along the coast between Rome and Leghorn yesterday, smashing a hole in her bow.

All 167 passengers were removed by another ship after the damaged vessel maneuvered off the reef and into shelter in a cove. Her crew remained aboard.

Heavy snow blocked highways in south Sweden. More snow, high winds and freezing temperatures were predicted for Denmark, where road and railway traffic has been hard hit by falls ranging up to 20 inches in depth.

The winter storms also hit east of the Iron Curtain. Warsaw radio reported that many persons died in gales that swept parts of Poland Monday. Several ships ran aground near the Baltic ports of Gdansk and Swinoujscie (Danzig and Swinemunde), the broadcast said.

Lanesboro Man Named Northwestern Retail Feed Group Director

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (Special)—Leo Heger, former Lanesboro, Minn., mayor and manager of the Lanesboro Grain Co., was named a director of the Northwestern Retail Feed Association at the annual meeting here Tuesday.

Richard Serkland, St. James, was elected president; Wendell Lenton, Stewartville, vice president, and Joseph Welder, Blue Earth, George Kolb Jr., Belgrade, and Frank Bowles, Northwood, N. D., directors in addition to Heger.

German Stowaway Reaches America

NEW YORK (AP)—Harmut Liskow, a 21-year-old German stowaway, picked for traveling companions three circus elephants shipped here aboard the German liner Berlin.

Liskow had worked as a circus roustabout and tended the elephants in Germany. When they were bought by the Ringling Brothers, Barmum & Bailey circus he decided to come along to America.

He spent most of the voyage hidden in the hold with the animals, sleeping on their hay and sharing the bread fed to them. He was discovered when he went on deck for air on the last day of the trip.

When the ship docked yesterday, Capt. Heinrich Lorenz said Liskow, a fugitive from East Germany, had hoped to win political asylum in the United States. Arrangements were being made to return him to Germany.

Wrestling Makes Debut at Winona State

Something new enters the Winona sports scene Thursday night at Memorial Hall. The event will be college wrestling, the first staged in the city.

The Winona State Teachers College wrestling squad, organized last year, will make its first home appearance in a dual match against Stevens Point State College at 8 p.m. in the main gym.

The Warrior mat squad, which organized because of the increased interest in the sport in area high schools in both Minnesota and Wisconsin, has had one meet this year, participating in the annual Carleton College Invitational and finishing third in a field of ten.

This season, Stevens Point is drawing between 1,200 and 1,500 fans for each wrestling match. The same holds true at Luther College in Decorah, Iowa, where better than 1,000 fans watch every match.

Brodhagen reports that between 18 and 20 boys have been working out since the middle of December. Many former Winona High stars are included in the list.

Most formidable of the group is three-times state high school champ Kermit Selke. Others are Ken Habeck, Jack Strommer, Gordie Schletter, Paul Evenson and Earl Christensen, all of whom will be in action Thursday.

The Stevens Point squad has been organized for five years, and wrestles under the tutelage of Johnny Roberts, twice Big Ten champ, in the 177-pound and unlimited classes, and also an all-conference guard on the University of Wisconsin's football team.

Two of the better wrestlers on the Pointers team, are the Hurlbut brothers, Dave and Ken, who wrestle in the 177-pound and unlimited classes. The Pointers will definitely have the edge in experience on the Warriors, even as far as this season is concerned. They have had two matches, meeting Ripon and Lawrence Colleges.

Following the match Thursday, the mat squad will meet the Mankato State Teachers College B squad next Wednesday, Jan. 26, at Memorial Hall.

The Warrior entry will include five Winonans and will be as follows: 123 pound — Kermit Selke; 130 pound — Gordon Selke; 137 pound — Merle Peterson; 147 pound — Jack Strommer; 157 pound — Gordie Schletter; 167 pound — Earl Christensen; 177 pound — Paul Evenson, and unlimited — Ken Habeck.

Upset Bug Hits N. Carolina State

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

North Carolina State, rated right behind Kentucky, and Maryland, the latest Atlantic Coast Conference power, took their places alongside virtually every top team in the country today—they have been bitten by the upset bug.

North Carolina whipped State 84-80, while George Washington, perhaps the strongest team in the Southern Conference, took the measure of Maryland 75-53 in the two top games last night.

And as if that wasn't enough, Yale turned in a double-overtime triumph over Dartmouth in the Ivy League 83-79, and Rice whipped Texas Christian, the Southwest Conference favorite, 73-63.

North Carolina's victory over the mighty Wolfpack sent the Tarheels into undisputed possession of first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

North Carolina used only five minutes to go, but from there on, the driving North Carolina outfit held on doggedly.

George Washington put on a fine defensive exhibition in snapping Maryland's nine-game winning streak. The Tarps, ranked sixth in this week's Associated Press poll, stayed close until midway in the second half. Then GW's zone defense stopped them.

Dartmouth's demise at the hands of Yale was about as close as they come. The Indians had a 17-point lead with about 6 1/2 minutes to go, but the Elis kept whittling away until Charlie Ross tied it in the closing seconds.

Again in the first overtime, Dartmouth pulled ahead, only to have Ross deadlock it again. Then Dave Hobson took over the main scoring and Yale pulled away. The loss dealt a severe blow to Dartmouth's hopes of winning the league title.

In other major games, Washington State defeated Idaho 53-39; South Carolina edged Clemson 90-87; William and Mary stopped VMI 83-68, and Baylor halted Texas A&M 89-77.

JOHANNSEN SCORES 37

Harwood Leads Chatfield Over Spring Valley Five

Chatfield handed Spring Valley its first loss, three District One players scored over 30 points apiece and Canton's Raiders produced the hottest shooting of the year.

That describes an interesting round of action Tuesday night as five conference games were recorded in the District One circuit.

Bill Harwood, Chatfield's defending District One scoring champion, hit 33 points and Dave Finstein 20 as the Gophers moved into second place on a 57-55 triumph over visiting Spring Valley.

It was the first league setback for Spring Valley. Gene Conway and Dan Schaffer both scored 13 points for the losers. Both teams made 21 free throws but Chatfield held a 22-17 edge in field goals. Chatfield also won the preliminary, 51-43.

Canton's Gordie Johannsen scored 37 points, most for a District One player in a league game this year, as the Raiders overwhelmed visiting Caledonia with a torrid second-half shooting exhibition.

Caledonia led 37-28 when the second half started, but Canton poured in 30 points in the third period and 26 the final session to chalk up an 84-66 victory, winning going away.

Johannsen had 16 field goals and five free throws, and he and his teammates made 21 field goals out of 31 attempts in the second half. Other Canton scorers were Bob Pierce with 17 and Hub Vannatter with 14. Bob Bunge high-pointed Caledonia.

Cold Facts

Gordon Paschka, inventor of tackling dummies, football coach and wrestling coach, and master of the powerful punch-line, told what happened at the University of Minnesota in the early '40s when a football player got too cocky.

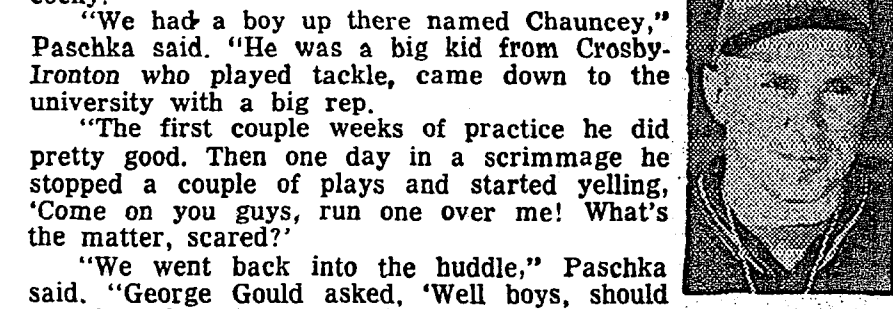

"We had a boy up there named Chauncey," Paschka said. "He was a big kid from Crosby-Ironton who played tackle, came down to the university with a big rep."

"The first couple weeks of practice he did pretty good. Then one day in a scrimmage he stopped a couple of plays and started yelling, 'Come on you guys, run one over me! What's the matter, scared?'"

"We went back into the huddle," Paschka said. "George Gould asked, 'Well boys, should we give Chauncey the business?'"

"We agreed that might be a good idea. So we ran the next play over Chauncey."

"The poor kid woke up about eight hours later in the infirmary. After the play was pretty worried. Why, Chauncey was out so cold we had to wear mittens to roll him over!"

Clearing the Spindle

Chuck Mencil, the Eau Claire product currently in his fourth and finest year as a member of the Minnesota basketball team, needs only 17 points Saturday night at Michigan State to break the all-time Minnesota basketball career record.

Mencil has tallied 1,206 points to date. . . Jim McIntyre, now located at good old Windom in the tire business, registered 1,223 points in the 1945-46 to 1948-49 span.

This season Mencil has scored 224 points in 12 games for an 18.7 average. . . Dick Garmaker leads the parade with a 24.8 average. . . Garmaker has 297 points in a dozen games.

Next is Bill Simonovich with a 15.8 average. . . Gerald Lindsey, the West DePere, Wis., product has an 8.5 average and rebounder Dave Tucker of Superior, Wis., has a 9.9 average while playing in 11 games.

Over Stewartville way, Roger Jahns and Gary Aswegen are averaging 19.2 and 15.3 points per game, respectively. . . Jahns got 25 against Eyota to run his season total to 135 and Aswegen got 20 points.

Joe Weisman, former proprietor of the Keglers Klub, dropped a note from Tucson, Ariz., where he is spending the winter. . . Joe appreciated the advance story on the upcoming men's city tournament, and Joe should know credit for that story is due Joe Page, president of the Winona Bowling Association.

Joe Page handled the job in his immaculate writing style. Joe Weisman, also an interesting writer, sent these thoughts: "There are only two bowling alleys in this city of 150,000. . . Hope to see you in the spring. . . This warm, dry climate seems to help my asthma. We are 2,200 feet above sea level."

It Grows & Grows

Now's the time to give credit to all of the persons who helped make the recent March of Dimes doubleheader here the most successful ever.

The March of Dimes event just seems to grow and grow. The fact that it grossed more this year than ever before would indicate it is becoming more and more popular as a wintertime sports attraction with fans in Winona and the nearby Minnesota-Wisconsin area.

Ed Urness, the very capable chairman of the event the previous three years, furnished the gross gates those seasons.

In 1952 it drew $530.16 and in 1953 the ticket take was $578.70. Last year, the first time it was held at Memorial Hall, the affair drew $774.25 gross.

A week ago the 1955 edition grossed an even $1,000. Len Dernek, president of the sponsoring Winona Activity Group, contributed 95 cents to make the gross reach the $1,000 figure.

Therefore, the past four years the March of Dimes basketball doubleheader has grossed $2,883.11. That's nearly $3,000, assuming the Sidelights' addition is correct.

We feel Ed Urness, who handled the arrangements for three years, deserves credit, and a big bouquet goes to the hard-working Winona Activity Group members who pushed the event.

We were associated with the Activity Group and found they are an extremely hard-working group of gents.

When they sponsor something, they really grab the lion by the tail and swing it.

Mentioned previously were the other persons and businesses which contributed services, entertainment, refreshments, etc., to help make the attraction so successful.

Not mentioned but also deserving credit are the girls of the Winona State Women's Athletic Association who handled the coat-checking department and turned over the dough received there to the March of Dimes.

Cowles Defends Cage Ruling On Free Throws

Gophers Commit Less Fouls, Have Top Percentage

By JIM KLOBUCHAR

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota's Ozzie Cowles, dapper defender of basketball's embattled bonus rule, is molding his own team as Exhibit A for the defense.

The new free throw rule, permitting a fouled player an extra free throw if he makes the first one, has become the spiciest conversational item of the season.

Some coaches deplore it as a free throw sideshow, robbing the field goal of its original importance.

Cowles reasons thus: The way to eliminate the free throw contests is to cut down on fouling. The double penalty provided in the new rule should be enough incentive for that.

And the way to exploit the rule is to develop a team of free throw perfectionists.

Cowles has done just that at Minnesota, currently tied for first place in the Big Ten with a 3-1 record and shooting for its first conference title in 18 years.

Last week Purdue boiled at a 45 per cent clip from the field for the first half while Minnesota was averaging an ordinary 36 per cent. Yet the Gophers led 48-45 at intermission because they cashed 18 of 19 shots from the foul line.

At one point, Cowles' bonus babies had converted 27 of 28 free throws before slacking off to 32 of 39 for the night.

All-America contender Dick Garmaker, who pumped in 43 straight foul shots against Indiana, is close to automatic from the free throw line. He's averaging 77 per cent and Cowles' regulars collectively are moving at a rate better than 70 per cent.

Kato Peds Aren't Awed by Gusties

MANKATO, Minn. (AP)—Unbeaten Mankato Teachers refused to be awed by Gustavus Adolphus' storied height today and braced for a game which its coach said might turn into a "war of nerves."

The game here Thursday night, fraught with prestige elements, sends the only undefeated college basketball team in Minnesota against one of the biggest in state history.

Gustavus leads the Minnesota College Conference with a 6-0 record and Mankato, carrying an 11-game winning streak, shares the Teachers Conference lead at 2-0.

Significantly, Mankato's last defeat was to Gustavus 54-61, the playoff last season for a berth in the NAIA tournament in Kansas City.

Bob Otto, interim coach at Mankato while Jim Witham is on leave of absence, doesn't try to discount Gustavus' height. It would be hard for him to do if he tried. Four of the five Gustie regulars are as tall or taller than Mankato's biggest, 6-5 guard Wayne Deden.

"But they're bound to worry about getting down the floor in time to set up their zone defense," Otto said. "I think that might be a psychological advantage for us."

Mankato's chances, Otto says, will depend on its ability to get a respectable share of the rebounds in the face of superior Gustavus height.

He isn't worrying about his team offensively, saying flatly: "I wouldn't trade our Norm Ness and Duane Mettler for any two forwards in the state."

Otto alternates 6-4 Hal Pepper and 6-5 Milan Knezovich at center, neither of whom can match Gustavus' 6-8 Jim Springer. Ness and Mettler, averaging around 20 points a game, both are 6-2. The team's shorty, 5-10 Bob Will is an able playmaker.

Otto concedes his team is running into a "fine and sound club." The two met three times last season, Gustavus winning them all, once decisively and the other by three points.

Otto believes Mankato's outside shooting efficiency might offset much of Gustavus' physical advantage.

"The team has confidence, speed and agility," he said. "We're good enough to make it interesting."

Carls, Pipers Defeat Rival Oles, Macs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Olaf held Carleton's brilliant Laurie Slocum almost powerless Tuesday night—for 34 minutes.

But Slocum shook loose long enough to deliver a vital basket in a late Carleton drive that produced a 66-59 victory after the Northfield rivals had duelled on even terms.

Slocum, the Midwest Conference's leading scorer, netted only 10 points and was held without a field goal until the last six minutes. St. Olaf's Jim Varland was chiefly responsible.

Slocum and Howie Rosenblum hit two-pointers which helped snap a 45-45 tie and send Carleton into a lead it never lost. St. Olaf, leading throughout the first half, had a 35-34 margin at halftime.

Rosenblum scored 16 for Carleton and Ray Mikkelson had 18 for St. Olaf. The victory was Carleton's fifth against two defeats in the Midwest Conference. St. Olaf is 3-3.

Hamline beat back a Macalester rally late in the game for a 66-61 victory, its fifth against two losses in the Minnesota College Conference. Two field goals by Dave Tschimperle and one by Bill Selisker pulled Hamline out of trouble after Macalester had climbed to within one point at 58-57. Tschimperle had 20 and Bruce Pagel 15 for Macalester.

Fred Burleson and Howard Ricketts each scored 21 points as Bethel whipped Moorhead Teachers, 73-54. In tonight's only game, River Falls plays Winona Teachers.

Sveen Faces Chatfield's Schindler

ROCHESTER, Minn. — Six members of the Winona Golden Gloves boxing team have been booked for action here Thursday night at the Armory on an amateur card.

Slated to fight are Duane Kasidauks, 170 pounds; John Strait, 160; Ralph Turner of Kellogg, 125; Ed Sveen, rural Winona, 138; Roger Gamoke, rural Winona, 148, and Roy Gamoke, 125.

It will be the first fights of the season for Kasidauks, Strait, Turner and Roger Gamoke. Sveen, who fought on a recent card at Rochester and looked good in winning, is matched against Chatfield's capable Dick Schindler, finalist in the Regional Golden Gloves tournament here last year.

There is also a possibility three more members of the Winona team will see action. They are Harold Johnson, Kellogg, and Norm Bundy and Lee Huwald, Winona.

Fifteen bouts have been lined up for Thursday night. The regional glove tournament eliminations start Jan. 27 and the finals will be held either Feb. 3 or Feb. 5.

Chuck Puterbaugh and Johnny Bell, co-directors of the Winona team, said new candidates could join the team up to the time of the regional tournament.

Bowling Clinic By Billy Sixty

GETTING STRAIGHT STRIDE

Start to the Right—First in bowling fundamentals is footwork. You must learn first to stride in a straight line, deviating not a particle. Also, you learn to deliver a straight ball because it is simplest to manage. The spins (hook and reverse) are added only after your footwork and swing are so coordinated that you can hit the 1-3 strike pocket eight out of 10 times—or more.

Sound execution of fundamentals demands gradual progress, through patient practice. You'll soon learn there is no short-cut to a 200 average. As sketch shows, take your stance midway between alley-center and the gutter, so that the ball will be delivered from four to six inches in from the gutter. Little angle is required to "pocket" the ball. Important: 1-3 thumb finishes straight ahead and up, the arm swings freely, like a pendulum, so that you feel the weight of the ball. That is the secret to developing a grooved swing—and keeping it. If, after you're rolling a hook, you find it difficult to control, go back to a straight ball for a while to get more confidence and more timing. Also, if you bowl only once or twice a week, don't try to use a hook. And if you must hook the ball, make it a small hook; the smaller, the better.

Quiet Advance In Stock Prices

NEW YORK — The stock market staged a general but rather quiet advance today for the second straight session.

Net gains for the two days have retraced about two-thirds of the sharp losses suffered in Monday's break.

There were gains of 1 to 4 points in several major divisions. Minus signs were scarce.

Business was rather subdued, however, at an estimated 2,900,000 shares, only the second time this year that the total has fallen below the three million mark. Tuesday's volume was 3,020,000 shares.

Farmer Admits Tax Violation

ST. PAUL — Federal probation officers today investigated the case of Carl H. Norman, 64, Milaca farmer who pleaded guilty to one of five counts of an indictment charging income tax evasion.

Alex Dim, assistant district attorney, said Norman admitted reporting a $137.54 income of which he paid no taxes in 1950 whereas he actually had an income of $11,562 on which a $2,511 levy was due the government.

Dim said Norman reported total income of $6,572 and paid $623 in taxes for the five years 1948-52 whereas he should have paid $8,854 in imports on $44,302.

Sentencing will await completion of the investigation.

"I happened to be in the neighborhood."

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGUM, D. S.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Chief George Hatherhill of Scotland Yard is quoted (paraphrased): "Men generally kill quickly and mercifully. Women often give slow poison and enjoy watching the suffering of the victim for weeks." However, there may be other reasons for such poisoning. Women are more likely to be preparing the food, and it is not surprising that they choose this method. Also, poisoning over a period of time is less likely to be detected.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. In Rotarian magazine Bruce Bakken says (based on L. M. Terman's work) that about 28 in 100 have IQs of 90 to 105—"average" intelligence. About 13 in 100 have 110 to 115—"high average"; about 8 in 100, from 120 to 125, and about 2 in 100, 130 to 135—both called "superior." About 1 in 100 have from 140 to 145—very superior. From IQ 170 and up, about 3 in a million—probably true creative genius. For anyone with an

IQ below 115, college work is pretty difficult.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. The ability to speak and write well. One big business manager (quoted in "Changing Times") said: "Too many young men don't know how to put their ideas into words. Such men are valuable in subordinate positions, but they aren't going very far." Our booklet, "How to Increase Your Vocabulary, Think Better, Spell Perfectly," will help you say what you mean and go further. Non-profit, 15c (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope, send to Dr. A. E. Wiggum, care of The Winona Daily News.

THE GRAB BAG

THE ANSWER, QUICK!

1. In United States history what position was held by all three of these men: Richard Croker, Charles W. Murphy and George W. Olney?

2. Who wrote Das Kapital?
3. Who was Xantippe?
4. Who commanded Great Britain's military forces at the Battle of Waterloo?
5. What Union colonel in the Civil War was best known as an orator and atheist?

HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?

1. The active leadership of Tammany hall, Democratic political organization of New York City.
2. Karl Marx (1818-1883).
3. The wife of Socrates.
4. Arthur Wellesley, Duke of Wellington.
5. Robert G. Ingersoll.

FAIRLY SPOKEN

By MARGARET LATROBE

It was the year for a new hat. In those childhood days a hat had to fit. You bought the bonnet by head-size first, then color, and you were lucky if it "did something for you."

The trip to the milliner meant holding Mother's hand through three changes of street cars, and long chilly waits on alien corners. The gentle, graying woman who subsisted by hatmaking in a modest cottage filled with caged canaries and milliner's "findings" was void of imagination when it came to children's hats. Warmth and durability was about it.

Mother fell in love with a wide-brimmed beaver hat which would have suited Samuel Johnson or an elderly English coachman to the nines. But it didn't suit me. Although I could see the pit into which they were about to thrust me, no word of protest came from my lips, no tear fell from my eyes. Being a week day, my hair was pulled so tightly back in braids that vocal or visual manifestations of any kind were nearly impossible. This hair-do gave rise to the eyebrows (mine) and the expression, "peeled onion."

The horrendous hat sat squarely on my head, and from its brim dangled two crocheted streamers ending in large fur balls. Mother assured me that on Sundays, when the hair fell in perfect rag-rag curls, things would look up with the hat. She said, while the milliner's canaries chirped merrily, that nobody on earth would have a hat like this one. What other lucky child could have a parent willing to spend two whole dollars for such a hat? Besides, it was warm. It would last for years.

And she was right. It was the only hat of its kind anywhere. People stopped to gaze in disbelief that a fur umbrella had somehow been attached, upside down, to my braided coronet. No one could sit be-

25 Children Die

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Twenty-five children have died in a diphtheria epidemic in the village of Minabad near the Soviet-Iranian border, the newspaper Keyhan reports. It said the government is rushing doctors to the area.
